Special Town Meeting votes Monday on Champy land

By Don Staruk

A Special Town Meeting is scheduled for this Monday night, Nov. 20, to decide a single issue – whether to rezone the Rose Champy property off Stirling Street.

A similar rezoning proposal for the same piece of property was denied at annual Town Meeting in April. This time the rezoning proposal is the only article on the meeting warrant.

The meeting is scheduled to begin 7 p.m. at the Collins Center at Andover High School, on Shawsheen Road. There is no quorum requirement for town meetings in Andover, so the meeting should start on time. Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said he expects the meeting to last about an hour and a half.

Residents wishing to vote at the meeting must have been registered by last Thursday. A two-thirds majority vote is required to approve a rezoning article.

Randy Hanson, town clerk, said this week that ongoing construction work at the High School will not cause any problems with parking for the meeting. Most of the large parking lot off Shawsheen Road is still in use as is the parking lot near the tennis courts.

There will be no babysitting service available at the Collins Center, as there is at annual town meetings. But the Department of Community Services has a list of babysitters

School Committee seeks state help with construction problems

By Neil Fater

Saying education can't be "held hostage" by the financial difficulties of the Andover High School project, the School Committee wants a state Department of Education official to help iron out problems between it and the School Building Committee.

Lloyd Willey told his fellow School Committee members Tuesday that the building committee is refusing to fund a technology initiative approved six weeks ago by the School Committee because it's concerned there's not enough money to complete the High School project.

Schools say 'no' to seniors' request for land, page 4.

Because the technology initiative is part of the construction plan that the state agreed to pay a percentage of, School Committee members say the building committee may Hamming it up?

Actually, (h)am-ateur radio is important stuff

By Neil Fater

You'd never know it by the name, but hamming is serious business.

Need proof? Take Dave Meldrum, who describes himself as "on the fringe" of Andover's ham-radio operations. This is a guy who collects two different ham-radio magazines, has a furnished room in his house known affectionately by his family as "the ham shack," and is working with the town planning department to build a 70-foot radio tower in his back yard.

On the fringe? Sheesh.

"Well, I'm sort of coming in late to it. I've only been doing it for a year" with the Andover group, said Mr. Meldrum, who lives on South Main Street. "So I don't know that I'd say 'total fringe' but I'm not in the in-crowd."

Which basically means that Mr. Meldrum is not involved in all of Andover's ham activities, he said.

Ham radio operators like Mr. Meldrum are people who talk to each other on assigned radio frequencies using call letters, rather than names, to identify themselves. Mr. Meldrum's amateur radio buddies reading this article might not know who "Dave Meldrum" is but mention his call letters – WB1H – and they'll know exactly who he is.

Where can you find people who willingly refer to themselves as hams?

"All walks of life, from plumbers and butchers to lawyers and doctors, clerks and salespeople," said Ed Goonyep (W1CUO), whose received his first ham license in 1953. "King Hussein of Jordan is a ham-radio operator. He just says, 'This is Hussein' when he talks to people."

If Andover High doesn't 'get more disciplined,' his kids won't attend

By Perry Colmore

"If the High School doesn't get more disciplined," Dave says he won't send his two children there. At the moment, they're at an Andover public elementary and a public middle-school.

Dave, not his real name, who has lived in Andover 15 years, has a lot to say about raising children. He favors involved parents who tell their children the score.

He says recently he was at Andover High School "for business reasons." He saw "holes in jeans, earrings in ears for boys and in the nose for girls, hats torn to shreds. I was looking. I thought, 'You've got to be kidding.' Dyed hair? It's pretty drastic.

"In Lawrence you can't wear a hat to school," he points out. "Why can we here?"

If they don't go to the High School, his children might go to Central Catholic. He said he doesn't think it will be financially feasible for his children to attend Brooks or Phillips Academy.

Asked if he doesn't send his kids to Andover High, where will they attend, he says, "I could never send them away to school. For college, I hope they get into UCLA. In high school, I want them at home. I don't want to shirk my responsibility.

"I've told my children we will not tolerate smoking. If something is happening, don't have me sit in the police station. If kids start batting mailboxes, you get your rear end out of there."

Dave believes the names of juveniles who destroy mailboxes and egg houses, for instance, should be published in the newspaper.

Kids have too much freedom, according to Dave. "I believe there should be no rights for students." Asked if, for instance, there should be a student council at the High School, he says yes, but, "I think the administration should tell the children what they want from them. Children should not be able to (designate an area where they can smoke), or what they can wear. No, we need to say, 'You are here to learn, to be educated.' "

He says maybe T-shirts with writing on them shouldn't be allowed at Andover High. He says his son wears sweatpants. "I wish they weren't allowed."

"You go through such an easy life with elementary child."

he says. "The biggest thing is playtime (getting the kids together). They go to hockey, gymnastics, piano, theater. You very rarely will see 10 kids go to a ball field to play.

"That comes back to the competitiveness thing. For soccer, at

CONVERSATIONS WITH PARENTS

13 or 14, they are done playing. They either make the high-school team or they are done. We lose them. They go off. The mother may decide their freshman year of high school to go back to work. Now the kids are home alone."

He says sports in Andover "are much too competitive." He says he doesn't care if his kids are jocks. "The family unit is the most important thing."

"You two are the only ones who discipline your children." His children rarely watch TV during the week. After dinner, they clear the table, their parents check their homework with them and one of them writes in her journal. Also, Dave and his wife read to their children.

"In the first two years of your child's life you already have established who the child is," says Dave. "You hug them, you read to them, you use basic common-sense discipline. You teach them to look adults in the eye."

According to Dave, "The supervision level in Andover is not that great. A lot of parents say you've got to pick and choose your battles." But Dave says a few years ago he heard at a seminar on parenting that you as a parent "never, ever lose control. If your child is not acting a certain way, take back the control."

Dave advises parents "to watch what your children listen to on the radio. Ask them, 'Did you slow dance with anyone more than once?' Sixth-graders, they don't need a dance. We couldn't talk to girls until we were 13. Second-graders now talk about the opposite sex."

Dave says no matter what, you never hit a girl. "I don't care what a girl does to a boy, he can never, never hit his sister."

And he says he doesn't believe in physical punishment. "I got spanked as a kid," says Dave. "It didn't really help me. It didn't change anything. Getting violent

News In Brief

Disabilities group meets tonight

The Andover Commission on Disability will meet tonight, Thursday, Nov. 16, at town offices, 36 Bartlet St., from 6:15 to 8 p.m. The agenda will include 1996 goals and bylaws.

Call Mark Walker at 687-4288 if you wish to attend and/or be on the official meeting agenda. All are welcome.

Youth Council seeks new members

The Andover Youth Council is looking for six honest, creative, diverse and committed individuals who are willing to give of their time and of themselves.

The council is a group whose goal is to empower young people to make positive changes in the community of Andover through support services, community projects and positive attitudes. Applications are available at the Department of Community Services office and the main guidance office of the High School for all high-school-aged young people who live in Andover. Applications are due by 4:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 27, at the DCS office.

For more information, call Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator, at 623-8241.

Economic development workshop today

A workshop on targeting specific local industries and working with other economic development entities and partners to get more impact with an advertising budget will be held today, Thursday, Nov. 16, at Indian Ridge Country Club. The workshop is sponsored by the Massachusetts Economic Development Council.

Two panel discussions and a Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection session will be held during the day.

Economic development officials will discuss problems they face in promoting redevelopment of contaminated sites and to seek potential solutions that could be part of the brownfield programs currently being developed.

Registration is at 9:30 a.m. The fee is $35 for the public; $25 for MEDC members.

Sen. John O'Brien lists office hours

State Sen. John D. O'Brien, D-Andover, will hold office hours Monday, Nov. 20, at the Senior Center on Bartlet Street from 10 to 11 a.m. and at Memorial Hall Library from 6 to 7 p.m.

All inquiries should be directed to Sen. O'Brien's office, Statehouse, Room 416A, phone (617) 722-1612.

Townsman seeks intern

The Townsman is looking for an intern to work at the paper. Interns write stories, check facts, file, do some research, compile the entertainment calendars and other tasks.

Interns are trained by the editorial staff. They usually make a commitment of working 20 hours a week. The paper especially would like an intern now who could work about five hours on Wednesdays. Interns are usually college students who are majoring in journalism or who have an interest and some experience in writing.

Contact Perry Colmore, Townsman editor, at 475-1943.

Early deadlines for next week's paper

Next week's Townsman will be published a day early. It will be dated Wednesday, Nov. 22, since Thursday, Nov. 23, is Thanksgiving.

That means there are early deadlines for the issue of Nov. 22. School news is due today, Thursday, Nov. 16. All other news is due tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 17, at 5 p.m.

The deadline for display ads for the Nov. 22 issue is Friday at 5 p.m. The deadline for classified ads is Monday, Nov. 20, at noon.

Winter parking ban

The winter parking ban for all Andover streets begins Friday, Dec. 1, at 1 a.m., and continues until April 1.

No parking is allowed on any town streets, or in municipal parking lots including the school lots, between the hours of 1 and 6 a.m.

Violators face an $8 fine and, in the event that it does snow, possibly having their vehicles towed.

Four injured in Dascomb Road crash

Four people were injured last Sunday night when their cars collided nearly head-on at the intersection of Dascomb and Frontage roads. None of the four were wearing seat belts, according to Officer John Pathiakis, investigating officer.

"The old man went through the windshield. He was digging his hat out of the other side of the windshield when I got there," Officer Pathiakis said. "Everybody hit the windshield."

Josephine Murphy, 80, of Tewksbury, driver of the Ford Escort wagon, and William M. Delellis, 38, of Stoneham, the other driver shown here being removed from his Buick, were both taken to Lawrence General Hospital. Mr. Delellis was treated and released. Ms. Murphy was listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit Tuesday night. Edward J. Murphy, 80, of Tewksbury, and Mark S. Almeida, 32, of Stoneham, both passengers, were taken by Med-Flight helicopter to Boston City Hospital where both were in stable condition Tuesday night. The helicopter landed in the commuter lot adjacent to the intersection. Mr. Delellis, who was headed west on Dascomb Road at about 10 p.m. Sunday and allegedly cut in front of Ms. Murphy's westbound Escort, was cited for failing to yield.

Schools not prepared to give space to senior citizens

By Neil Fater

Is the School Committee willing to donate land behind Doherty Middle School so seniors can build a senior center there? Not at this time.

That was the message again sent during the School Committee meeting Tuesday night. Though the School Committee still has not completely shut the door on the possibility, it voted Tuesday to inform the Council on Aging that it's currently not willing to give up any of its land near Doherty Middle School.

Dick Neal, superintendent, advised against donating the land until the officials have a better idea about how they can add to Andover's middle-school space. He said the schools can't move forward with middle school studies until money is approved at town meeting as part of the Capital Improvement Plan.

However, officials believe Doherty is the most likely spot for a middle school addition.

Mr. Neal also said the state Department of Education's guideline for a school site with 700 students is 22 acres. Doherty Middle School, which has 697 students this year, currently has 16.8 acres.

Senior citizens like the location behind Doherty because it's near elderly housing and the center of town.

Lloyd Willey and Dick Muller, committee members, Tuesday pushed for the committee to take the vote to let seniors know exactly where the School Committee stands.

Mr. Muller also suggested the School Committee should consider whether it would want to give up that land even if Doherty does not need to expand.

"I'm actually interested in having discussions with the selectmen and the representatives of the senior center to come up with a plan and not waste people's time," said David Birnbach, committee member, Wednesday. "If it's not going to happen, then we should say that and be definitive about it."

Dick Neal advised against donating the land until officials have a better idea about how they can add to Andover's middle schools.

with a person is counter productive. And you never ever hit a woman."

On the subject of movies, Dave says his two children don't watch movies unless he or his wife have seen and approved of them, or if someone they trust recommends one. "If you haven't exposed your kids to it, they don't ask for it."

Dave believes in family vacations. "Now we are looking at high-schoolers going away for spring break. I pray that when my children are that age, I will be able to say no.

"You've got to expose the girl to what you expose the boy to," he continues. "You've got to love them. And just running your child to soccer isn't doing it."

A few weekends ago when it rained and his kids' soccer games were canceled, Dave's family went out for pizza and a movie. "It felt great even though it sounds corny."

Conversations with Parents

Dave believes Andover kids don't differ from any other kids in middle-class communities. However, "I think there's a problem with more trust funds here. We are seeing tremendous growth in this town."

He says he's "shocked that Andover doesn't offer anything to our teenagers." Asked if he means a teen center, Dave says no, the town doesn't need a place for only teens, it needs a community center where teens could, perhaps, have a room of their own. "Teens want to do their own thing," off in a "center in the woods," says Dave. "I am not in favor of that."

Dave asks why Andover doesn't have an indoor swimming pool and a lighted basketball court. He says Lexington has a "beautiful outdoor pool," a walking track and three lighted basketball courts.

"There are certain clubs in this town that are kind of closed," says Dave.

He says Confetti Kids didn't hold tryouts this year because last year's players stayed with the children's performing group. He called the Merrimack Junior Theatre "a very closed group." "There's not enough for all kids."

According to Dave, "Parents here stink at volunteering. They will do it if their kid's involved. I think parents have to take a hard look at themselves, at what they want to give back. If the mother is at home and not working and all she's doing is playing tennis three and four times a week... The same group is volunteering. I don't see how you could be a PTO president two years. It's an enormous job."

TV theft solved

By Neil Fater

A man accused of stealing a TV and VCR was apparently caught because of his unsuccessful attempt to swipe a battery – not for the TV's remote control, but for his troubled car.

Police say they originally ran into John Moffat, 18, of Lawrence, at about 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning. After stopping Mr. Moffat on Main Street for an equipment defect, Officer Rick Edson noticed a TV and VCR in the car. But because he had no probable cause to take the equipment, Officer Edson let Mr. Moffat go on his way. Mr. Moffat had trouble starting his car and told the officer he would let his car sit a while and try to start it later.

At 4:41 a.m., police received a report of an attempted break into a motor vehicle at the Dunkin Donuts on North Main Street. The man was gone when police arrived, but they say they found a TV stashed in some brush about 20 feet away.

Around noontime, Phillips Academy reported the theft of a 24-inch color TV and VCR from a common room at Draper Hall. "Being mathematicians we put one and one together and figured Mr. Moffat might have stolen that TV," said Lt. Ricci.

Mr. Moffat was arrested at 4:38 p.m. by Sgt. James Hashem when he came into the police station hoping to recover his vehicle, which he had left at the scene of the Dunkin Donuts incident, said Lt. Ricci. Police had towed the car. He was charged with breaking and entering a motor vehicle in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, malicious damage to a motor vehicle, two counts of larceny from a building and trespassing.

Hewlett-Packard wins award for renovation of two buildings

At a ceremony held in October at the Westin Hotel Copley Place in Boston, the Associated General Contractors (AGC) of Massachusetts announced that Hewlett-Packard Medical Products Group, George B. H. Macomber Company, and ADD Inc have won an honor award for the renovation of manufacturing buildings two and three at Hewlett-Packard's Andover campus. This award honors exceptional project teams in the regional construction industry, recognizing the general contractor, owner and architect equally for their professional roles in the winning projects.

"The fact that this renovation occurred in and around active manufacturing without disruption to the production activities is a testament to the project team's professionalism and collaborative effort." said AGC award selection jury member, Jack Feeney.

This seven-phased renovation of 320,000 square-feet of two operational

Putting First Things First.

"For me, every day is a new opportunity to make a difference in the lives of those around me.

As a mom, I realize you only get one chance to help your kids grow up right.

As a real estate professional, I realize I only get one chance to get my clients the best results possible.

After all, they're trusting me with one of the most important steps in their lives—buying or selling a home. That's a responsibility I take very seriously.

Yes, real estate is a rewarding profession, but not in the way you might think. The most satisfying moment of my day is looking back and knowing I've done my best for those who mean the most to me—my family and my clients."

VARICOSE VEINS

DID YOU KNOW:

Varicose veins are caused by increased pressure in the legs due to height, the physical strain of working or pregnancy. Prolonged standing or sitting can add to the problem.

As you age, the walls in your veins lose elasticity. The valves which control blood flow back to your heart may not close completely which allows blood to escape. The result is varicose veins and/or swelling causing discomfort and pain With modern techniques, compression hosiery, commonly known as surgical stockings, allows for a two-way stretch yarn that is elastic in all directions. This allows for a smooth fit with no wrinkles. The porous texture allows skin to breathe freely to reduce sweating, itching, etc. Surgical stockings are available in a variety of sizes and compressions. (May require prescription.) Stop by and have certified fitters help you to determine how surgical stockings can help you with your painful or swollen legs.

Call today for an appointment for a private consultation. Our experienced fitters will help you and your doctor select a stocking that is right for you.

Pan Am group tours water treatment plant

Member of the International Ozone Association Pan American Group toured the Robert E. McQuade water treatment plant in Andover yesterday, Wednesday, Nov. 15

The group is having its annual conference on ozone for drinking-water treatment in Cambridge this week. The tour was part of the technical highlights of the conference.

The 24-million-gallon-per-day McQuade facility with ozonation granular-activated carbon filtration, automated control system, permanent pilot plant and state-of-the-art laboratory is recognized as the most technologically advanced water treatment plant in New England.

Using ozone to treat drinking water provides enhanced organic removal, improved taste and color and is the most effective treatment option in addressing Cryptosporidium, a frequent cause of waterborne disease in humans and a growing concern for water treatment facilities across the country.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

with Jean Fitzgerald & Pamela Lebowitz

SHOULD YOU BUY OWNERS TITLE INSURANCE

When you finance a home through a lender, you will be required to purchase title insurance to cover the amount of your mortgage loan. At the closing you will be given the option to buy additional coverage on your investment.

Before the closing, the settlement attorney will order a title report to make sure that the sellers actually own the home and that no one else has an interest in the property. This process will identify the potential title problems or liens. Title insurance covers you against any future claims that did not appear on the title report. It is a one-time charge that you pay at the closing, which covers your future equity up to a stated maximum amount, as your property increases in value. Title insurance is one of those things you will probably never need, but if you do, you will really be glad to have it! It's a small investment to protect your major investment.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Please call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, CLU, ChFC

ON AVERAGING

By investing in stocks and mutual funds according to a purchasing strategy known as dollar cost averaging, investors can eliminate the matter of timing as one of the most difficult aspects of investing. Instead of trying to gauge when it is the right time to purchase a stock, dollar cost averaging calls for investments of the same amount of money in a stock or mutual fund at fixed intervals. What this strategy does is force investors to buy more shares of a stock or mutual fund when its price is low and less when it is high. Thus, over the long term, an investor's average cost will be lower than the average price of the security. Dollar cost averaging requires a good degree of personal discipline, but the price paid may well be worth it. Dollar cost averaging can be done on a less regular, more casual basis, as well, as long as there is an appropriately length time until the funds will ultimately be needed. Please give us a call to discuss this concept and investment strategies that will be most appropriate for you. We look forward to hearing from you soon.

At BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, 10 Essex Street in Andover, we will help you select the type of investment that best suits your needs. We are acutely aware that investments my be influenced by a wide range of economic, political and social factors. Our years of experience and solid resources mean that we are able to offer time-tested advice in a very individualized manner. Please call us at 475-9212 to schedule a free initial consultation. Or call our Boston office, 100 N. Washington Street, at (617) 523-4500.

Hint: Dollar cost averaging may be a fine purchasing technique, but it still will not turn a losing stock into a winner. Purchase stocks and stock mutual funds with records of long-term upward trends.

ANDOVER REMEMBERS ITS VETERANS

Doherty students observe the day

Bracing Friday morning's record-low temperatures, 150 Doherty Middle School students joined their teachers, Principal Floyd McManus and Assistant Principal Bruce Maki, and invited guests to commemorate Veterans Day at three Andover sites.

The special Veterans Day commemoration began outside town offices with four eighth-grade color guard cadets – Jonathan Gagne, Richard Taylor, Peter Edgerly and William Payne – members of the Massachusetts Civil Air Patrol, marching in formation in full uniform.

Members of the sixth-grade class (Team C) delivered speeches on the history and significance of Veterans Day, and provided a dramatic reading of the poem In Flanders Field.

The singing of America was followed by a moment of silence to remember the contributions of all U.S. veterans. The ceremony concluded with the playing of Taps by sixth-graders Allison Caffrey and Andrew Tonelli.

John Lewis, director of veteran services for Andover, was a special guest.

Doherty seventh-graders from Team C participated with separate services Friday at the cannon monument in The Park and the Revolutionary War monument on Central Street. All Doherty students were encouraged to wear red, white and blue clothing in tribute to all veterans.

The first Veterans Day service in Andover last Saturday was the dedication of the Elm Green Veterans Memorial in Elm Square at 11 a.m. After the ceremony the group proceeded to Ballardvale Green for a ceremony to honor Korean, Vietnam and Persian Gulf war veterans, and then went on to the dedication of the Korean War Veterans Memorial Bridge on Stevens Street.

AHS Marching Band places second in NESBA finals at BU

The Andover High School Marching Band finished its competitive season with a "rousing" performance to earn a second-place finish in the New England Scholastic Band Association finals Sunday, Nov. 5, at Boston University's Nickerson Field.

"Competition was tough but Andover turned in a sharp and classy show on this brisk fall day," a spokesperson said. Seven bands vied for the honors in Division II. Andover placed second with a score of 91.5, the band's highest score to date, winning its second consecutive gold medal.

Scores of 85 and above earn the coveted gold medal.

Oliver Ames finished first with a score of 97.8 and a gold medal and took home the awards for best band front and high music. Dedham High won third place and a gold medal with a score of 89.4. Westport High won the best percussion award; and Malden and Dedham tied for best drum-major awards.

First place in Division I and all other honors went to East Bridgewater High. They earned a gold medal with a score of 93.1. Second place and a silver medal went to Portsmouth High with a score of 84.2, and Joseph Case High won a silver medal and third place with a score of 82.1.

Loyal supporters of competing bands kept warm with blankets and coffee as the bands performed in the drafty stadium. The Boston College Marching Band entertained with its music and marching skills while the scores were tabulated. All competing bands passed for the crowd's review in a snappy group procession just before the award ceremony.

This was the last competitive performance for AHS

SCHOOLTALK

Parent and guardians of Andover High School students are invited to a Curriculum Night tonight, Thursday, Nov. 16, from 7 to 9:10. Parents will follow their students' Day-M schedule and meet with teachers in abbreviated, 10-minute classes.

Teachers will describe their courses and expectations about homework, testing and grades. The evening will run on a bell schedule. Parents are asked to arrive in the respective student's homeroom by 7 p.m. to obtain the class schedule. Parents should check with their student for the homeroom number and teacher's name. Teachers will review the format for the evening before parents start to Period 1.

The "class day" begins promptly tonight at 7:10.

The Professional Center for Handicapped Children will have a special event at the Learning Express toy store, 32 Park St., this Sunday, Nov. 19, from noon to 5 p.m. Learning Express will donate 20 percent of that day's total sales to the center, to benefit special-needs children and their families throughout the Merrimack Valley. Call the center at 475-3806.

Kids For Kids and the students and staff at Doherty Middle School will make a lot of noise this afternoon, Nov. 16, with a Smokescream. In recognition of the Great American Smokeout, students will gather on the front lawn of the school at 2 p.m., along with many others nationwide. They will express their emotions about tobacco, the industry that produces it, the advertising that promotes it, and the effects it has on those close to them.

The AIDS Dance-a-thon: Fun night for important cause

By Valerie Parker
Andover Youth Council, AIDS Action of Andover High School president, and dance-team captain

Get ready to party! The time has come for the 7th annual AIDS Dance-a-thon. This four-hour entertainment extravaganza is Boston's biggest and best indoor dance party. This year's dance-a-thon will be held Sunday, Nov. 19, from 6 to 11 p.m. at the Hynes Convention Center on Boylston Street in Boston. More than 5,000 people – including hundreds of dance teams – are expected to raise more than $500,000 for the AIDS Action Committee. This exciting event will include dancing to the latest music spun by top DJs, a line-up of live entertainment, and a soon-to-be-announced feature artist in the main room. In addition, there are five more dance floors, including the Reggae, Latin Beat and the all-new Alternative room, along with the ballroom-dancing and two-stepping floors, which have free lessons.

The dance-a-thon is a great way to get a group together to raise awareness and funds for AIDS care and services. Last year, more than 500 organizations, schools, retail stores, companies, and groups of friends par-

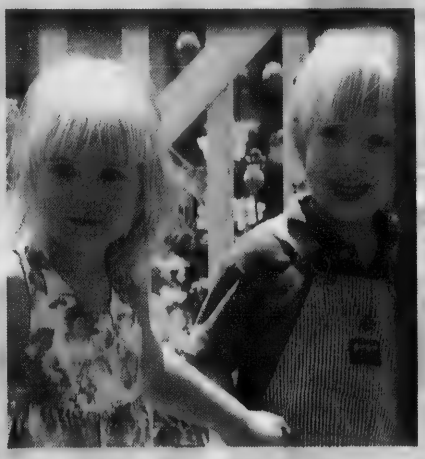
FALLON. REDEFINING HEALTH CARE



FALLON REMOVES THE BARRIERS.

GIVING YOU ACCESS TO CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, BRIGHAM AND WOMEN'S, DANA-FARBER AND MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL.

New England is famous for picket fences and stone walls. But when it comes to your health, some walls need to come down. Which is why Fallon offers the Peace of Mind Program™.

It allows you to go to world-renowned Boston hospitals like Brigham and Women's, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, Children's Hospital and Massachusetts General.

It's your choice. You decide. No committee reviews. No extra costs. No barriers.

How can Fallon offer such a program? Because we're confident that you will be more than satisfied with the care you receive from the physicians and hospitals already participating with Fallon. Fallon chooses only the best providers and facilities for your care.

When you really need it, Fallon comes through for you like no other HMO can. The Peace of Mind Program. Find out about it. Ask your employer.

FALLON HEALTHCARE SYSTEM

Some restrictions apply. The Peace of Mind Program is not available to UMass option, Senior Plan or Fallon Flex members.

WEDDINGS

Armstrong-Worcester

R. Benton Armstrong and Sharon Worcester were married at the Andover Inn.

Julia Worcester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Jennifer Armstrong of Sanford, N.C., the groom's sister, Leanna Ampola of Atlanta, Ga., Hattie Derrick of Port Washington, N.Y., Laura Giles of Flagstaff, Ariz., and Leisa Gonnella of Charlottesville, Va.

Robert Armstrong of Sanford, N.C., was his son's best man. The groomsmen were Guy Taylor of Raleigh, N.C., Robb Clarke of Winston-Salem, N.C., Jeffrey Cope of Clayton, N.C., and Brian Worcester of South Boston, the bride's brother.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worcester of Andover. She has an MHA degree from Duke University. She is manager of Managed Care Contracting at Winchester Hospital.

Sharon and R. Benton Armstrong

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong. He has an MBA degree from Duke University. He is a senior consultant at Price Waterhouse.

Whalen-Field

Hilary Whitcomb Field and William Patrick Whalen III were married Aug. 19 in Cochran Chapel at Phillips Academy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall L. Field of Tewksbury. She grew up in Andover and graduated from Pike School, Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Conn., Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine, and Lesley College Graduate School of Education in Cambridge. She is a teacher at North Shore Nursery School in Beverly Farms.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patrick Whalen of Swampscott. He graduated from Swampscott High School and Bates College in Lewiston, Maine and is a distribution manager for the Consortium of Mathematics and its Applications (COMAP) in Lexington.

William and Hilary Whalen

Ramey-Little

Sarah Anne Little and Keith Kendrick Ramey were married Sept. 3 in the Lanam Club garden. Justice of the Peace Rosalie Bially performed the civil ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Deborah A. Kelso of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. Kevin P. Little of Gibsonia, Pa. She graduated from University of Massachusetts in 1994 and is in the Enterprise Rent-a-Car management-training program.

Andover Baptist Church, 7 Central St., will host a "Concert of Prayer" with other area churches this Sunday, Nov. 19, at 6 p.m. A "Concert of Prayer" is a time of guided prayer for the church, community and nation. It is designed to get Christians praying in small groups and one-on-one for each other's needs, and then concentrate prayer for the wider needs of the community.

A variety of prayers will be offered, including praise, thanksgiving, confession, petition and intercession. "Like the different instruments in an orchestra, the individual prayers combine to make a beautiful music to the Lord," organizers said.

Times of worship will be interspersed with the praying.

Leaders from Andover Baptist, BrookRidge Community, Free Christian, and other churches will be involved.

"This is a great opportunity for the real 'prayer warriors' of each of our churches to blend their hearts and voices before the Lord in prayer for the world around us. Plan to be a part of this powerful event," they said.

West Parish Church invites the public to celebrate the Rev. Joe LaDu's 30th anniversary in the ordained ministry this Sunday, Nov. 19. The church governing board will serve a Yankee pot roast lunch after the service, and a short program will follow. Tickets are $5 per person. Call Merry at the church office, at 475-3528, as soon as possible to reserve a space.

While Thanksgiving Day is generally seen as a time to be with family and friends, for Christian Scientists it is a time to express gratitude to God for healings and blessings during the past year. They take seriously the New Testament statement from Colossians (2:6,7): "As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him: Rooted and built up in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving."

Every year, a special Thanksgiving service open to the community and dedicated to the sharing of gratitude is held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, 278 N. Main St. This year's service will take place next Thursday, Nov. 23, at 10:30 a.m.

The passage from Colossians and others from the Bible, as well as passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by church founder Mary Baker Eddy, will be read by two lay readers. Time will be given for Christian Scientists to share testimonies of gratitude to God.

This year's special Thanksgiving lesson-sermon includes Mrs. Eddy's statement in Science and Health, "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tell whence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed. These are the effects of one universal God, the invisible good dwelling in eternal Science."

Another passage to be read is, "Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist invite the community to attend this service of thanksgiving. Care will be provided for children too young to attend. No collection will be taken.

Temple Emanuel of Andover will hold a college sabbath Friday, Nov. 24, at 8:15 p.m. The community is invited, particularly college-age students home for the holidays.

College students will reflect on their experiences at their colleges.

Rabbi Robert S. Goldstein and Cantor Donn Rosensweig will lead the liturgy.

An oneg shabbat collation will follow the service.

At its 10:30 a.m. service this Sunday, the Unitarian Universalist Congregation at 6 Locke St. will celebrate Thanksgiving with its traditional bread service. The congregation will sit in a circle as a symbol of the connectedness of the community of gratitude as they break bread together.

The Rev. Peter T. Richardson will preach on "A New England Thanksgiving" and the 1606 covenant the First Church U.U. in Plymouth brought from England to the New World will be recited. The junior and senior choirs will sing an anthem and a new-member ceremony will be held for those joining the congregation.

Rabbi Laible Wolf, a student and teacher of the mystical tradition known as the Kabbalah for almost three decades, will speak at the Ramada Rolling Green on Lowell Street this Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. as part of his North American tour. Rabbi Wolf is a graduate of Melbourne University Law School and has a postgraduate degree in education. Only 23 years old, he was probably the youngest Hillel director ever appointed, organizers said. He subsequently served as a consultant to various Jewish organizations, including the American Jewish Congress and B'nai B'rith. He utilized and shared Kabbalistic concepts in order to attract affiliated and unaffiliated Jews to the spiritual part of Judaism. Many of his students were Jews who had looked for meaning in life within Eastern philosophy and practices. While on his Sabbatical years in Israel, he honored requests from people who wished to study with him. He also gave lectures and workshops on Jewish meditation using the Kabbalistic model.

Rabbi Wolf says that Jewish mysticism dates back to the time of Abraham, and Abraham may have passed it on to the People of the East through his sons, giving rise to the

OBITUARIES

The Townsman will publish obituaries of Andover residents without charge.

The paper also will publish without charge a short announcement of those people who died and did not live here, but are related to someone who lives in Andover. This listing will include the name of the deceased, where he or she lived, when he or she died, and names of relatives in Andover.

Those who wish to have a complete obituary published about a person who did not live in Andover can pay for a death notice. The cost of a death notice depends on the length of the notice. Questions? Call Jack Grady or Perry Colmore at 475-1943.

Obituaries are a free service of the Townsman, which receives information from funeral homes and family members.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

THE SEASONS OF LIFE

In the metaphors of our language, it has always been quite common to encapsulate a human lifetime within the boundaries of a year. The stages of life are then seen as seasons. Spring is likened to birth, with its promise of youth and bloom. Then comes the robust growth of summer and the potential of dreams as yet unfulfilled. Autumn is a season of serenity and maturity, during which the experiences of the preceding months are deftly applied so that we may reap the harvest of all that we have imagined and accomplished to that point. Lastly, the frozen beauty of winter carries us to a slow, but sure, denouement during which we may reflect on the experience and the effect of our lives. The great French poet and dramatist Victor Hugo personalized the seasons of his life with the words: "Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of the worlds which invite me."

When you decide to prearrange and prefinance a funeral in advance of need, you will have relieved your family and loved ones of burdens during a time of emotional stress. You will also have established your wishes and desires in advance. To learn more about prearrangement and prefinancing, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200. We handle funeral needs while keeping budget and type of service in mind. We are conveniently located at 390 North Main Street. We wish you and your family a Happy Thanksgiving.

Cinderella to grace Santa Parade on Sunday, Nov. 26

A pumpkin-shaped coach drawn by eight white horses will be a major attraction in this year's Firefighter Santa Parade, set for Sunday, Nov. 26, at 1:30 p.m.

According to parade organizer John McMullen, "This is an exact replica of Cinderella's coach as seen in the Disney classic, complete with coachmen and, of course, Cinderella."

In addition to many bands and marching units, a team of Clydesdale show horses will be featured.

Any group or organization wishing to participate should call James Cutichia at the Andover Fire Department (475-7915, Ext. 15) by next Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Donations are still needed to ensure the continued success of the parade. They can be sent in care of the Firefighters Santa Parade, Central Fire Station, 32 N. Main St., Andover 01810.

Senior Center has bake sale

A bake sale will be held at the Senior Center on Whittier Court tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 17, from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public is invited to purchase baked items for Thanksgiving. Call the Senior Center at 623-8321 for more information.

Men sought for auditions

The Paint & Powder Club will hold auditions for men 25 years and older Sunday, Nov. 19, from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Augustine School for "Is There is Life after High School?"

There are songs for tenors, basses and baritones. Dana Bissette will be the director and music will be directed by Jeffrey Gage. Bring sheet music. Performances are scheduled for March. Call 682-7974 evenings.

Book-signing for history book

Eleanor Motley Richardson will be at the Andover Bookstore, 89R Main St., Saturday, Nov. 25, from 2 to 4 p.m. to sign copies of the book, Andover: A Century of Change. "The Andover history book, with its many exquisite photographs, is a fascinating look at the last 100 years in Andover," organizers said.

Ms. Richardson has written a history of a town and its people, from the changes on its Main Street, to the churches and schools, from its ethnic heritage, to the evolution of industry. "But above all, we meet the people of Andover in these pages. Their faces and their words stay with us long after closing the covers of is book.

Andona Ball was Celestial

The Andona Society's ball Celestial Celebration held at the Andover Marriott on Nov. 4 raised more than $6,000. The gala was attended by more than 250 people. This event and ClownTown are the major fund-raisers for the Andona Society, enabling the society to fund camperships, scholarships and assist with youth projects in the town.

Most men wore tuxedos and women were in elegant gowns. The Marriott had produced a giant ice sculpture of the sun, moon and stars to reflect the ball's theme.

The ball committee, co-chairwomen Tobi K. Levis and Barbara Stube, Marianne Tompkins, Leslie Mann, Lisa Canepa, Gail Reynolds, Anne Marie Bulzarik and Cara Martin, worked hard selecting menus, handling invitations and producing "heavenly" centerpieces. Flowers by Steve assisted in the centerpiece design, which included blue stars, silver rays and white rubrum lilies. The dance floor was flanked by clusters of silver and white balloons. Horizon provided the music for dancing until 1 a.m.

The meal consisted of a choice of chicken wrapped in phyllo pastry, beef au poivre or pasta del mer with chocolate mousse-filled praline baskets for dessert.

South Church music groups present concert to benefit Neighbors In Need

The Sanctuary Choir, three youth choirs, and handbell choir of South Church in Andover, with instrumentalists from the congregation will perform festive choral and instrumental music at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall, 192 Broadway, Methuen, Sunday, Nov. 19, at 2 p.m. The choirs will be conducted by Tamara Rozek, director of music and organist at South Church, and Susan Spollett, director of the Esprit, Carol and Cherub choirs. This concert will benefit of Neighbors In Need, which serves more than 400 families a week in the Merrimack Valley.

ticipated as teams and helped the dance-a-thon raise a record $450,000. The Andover High School team raised $3,000, proudly taking its place as one of the five top high school teams among the 5,000 people at the event.

This year, with the birth of the AIDS Action Committee of Andover High School, and twice as many kids involved, Andover High's team goal is $4,000.

These students hope to surpass this goal to win the grand prize: an all-expense-paid private party at Boston's Hard Rock Cafe.

The pledge money collected helps the AIDS Action Committee provide client services and prevention education programs which benefit thousands of people living with and affected by HIV and AIDS in Massachusetts. It's up to us to take action and help put a stop to this epidemic.

Not only is the AIDS Dance-a-thon a great party, it's a great cause. Last year I left the Hynes Convention Center feeling proud – knowing I made a difference, knowing I touched somebody's life, knowing I helped someone.

This event is an experience that opened my eyes to how much of a difference one person can make. We do have the power to stop the epidemic of AIDS. Everyone is invited to make the '95 Dance-a-thon more successful than ever.

Last year was a blast – don't miss out on the fun this year.

Care to dance?

Call the Danceline at (617) 424-9255 for pledge sheets. Contributions may be sent to: AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, Mass. 02116.

Meeting goers to decide zoning issue

available.

Selectmen will meet with the Planning Board just prior to the Special Town Meeting, at 6 p.m. in the music room at the Collins Center, to receive input on the proposal from planners. Selectmen as a group have not yet taken a position on the article, but may do so on the floor of the meeting. Barry Finegold, first-year board member, came out this week in support of rezoning the land. [See his letter to the editor and other letters on the rezoning issue beginning on page 35.]

The Finance Committee last week opted not to take a position on the article at that time, commenting that the zoning issues outweigh possible financial implications.

The article

The article proposes to rezone a portion of the 70-acre Champy property off Stirling Street, adjacent to Den Rock Park, from Industrial-D to Single Residence-B. The rezoning would pave the way for the proposed development of a 25- to 30-lot cluster subdivision on the site.

The plan being proposed would deed 70 percent of the land, 16 acres of which are in Lawrence, to Andover as open space. This would include the portion of the property that borders the Shawsheen River.

The issues

The discussion at Special Town Meeting will no doubt focus on a few major issues.

Proponents say:

• Ms. Champy, an 80 year-old Methuen resident who inherited the land from her father, owes nearly $1.5 million in taxes, penalties and interest to the Internal Revenue Service, mostly as a result of a sale of the property in the mid 1980s that later fell through. If the taxes are not paid, the IRS could auction the property to the highest bidder, and that could mean industrial development. The IRS could also auction Ms. Champy's house in Methuen.

Voters at the meeting may want a more detailed explanation of this IRS debt, and that discussion could sidetrack the more immediate zoning issue.

• Ms. Champy also owes the town $357,000, which includes $221,000 in taxes and $136,000 in interest. Another $50,000 is owed to Lawrence for outstanding property taxes, and there is a realtor's lien for $150,000 on the property from the "supposed sale" in 1986, according to Eric Teichert, Ms. Champy's nephew. All these liens, including the Andover taxes, would have to be paid before any construction could begin. Proponents say Andover could use that $357,000.

• The property is going to be developed, the only question is the type of development it will be – industrial or residential.

Opponents say:

• They want to retain the land as a conservation area, and that with the more time and the town's help, they could find a way to make that happen.

The entrance to the new residential development on the Champy property would be via Stirling Street at this junction with Sutherland Street. Stirling Street comes in from the right. The entrance would go off to the left.

Selectmen have agreed that, if the rezoning article fails next week, they will meet with neighbors, other residents and representatives of a land trust group to hear ideas on ways to conserve the land.

• Funds from the Open Space Bond Bill, currently in the state legislature, could be used to purchase the property, possibly as part of Den Rock Park. There are also state self-help grants for up to $500,000 available for such purchases.

• Neighbors feel residential or industrial developments are not the only two options, and that a third option – conservation – should be pursued.

So far, they have been willing to gamble that the owner won't find an interested party to develop the land for an industrial use.

Neighbors' form steering committee to watch SHED at PA

After voicing their many concerns and suspicions at Tuesday's meeting about the project, abutters of the proposed SHED and Kid's Club site decided to form a steering committee in order to make sure their voices are heard. The committee will work with representatives of SHED and Phillips Academy in an attempt to resolve issues concerning the potential site located on the PA campus.

Shawsheen Extended Day and Kid's Club is a non-profit, local organization offering before and after school child care for school children. SHED is trying to work out a deal with PA to lease and renovate a 3,800-square-foot, unused school-owned building on the PA campus to house the organizaton. In addition, they have proposed to establish another building in that area, two- or three-stories tall and about 9,000 square-feet, to accommodate Kid's Club. A play area, located between the two buildings, is also part of the proposed plans.

Paul Finger, president of SHED, said the organization has been looking for a new site for the last two or three years. Although they are only in the "infancy stages," SHED committee members are in the process of outlining plans for the potential site, Mr. Finger said. The preliminary designs include renovating the old PA laundry building for the SHED program, constructing a new building for Kid's Club, and laying out plans for the entrance road from Phillips Street.

> 'Nobody can argue with child care. This seems to me like a necessary and valuable project within the town. But there are safety issues that have affected many of us in the past, issues that we feel must be addressed.'
> Louise Macmillan of School Street

Neighbors of the proposed site – residents of Abbot, School and Phillips streets – discussed some of their reservations and asked that they, as Andover residents and abutters to the area, be given fair representation throughout the designing, developing and future planning processes.

Mr. Finger says SHED hopes "to move forward in a sensitive manner" by working with both PA and neighbors.

"This organization provides a critical service, as far as we're concerned, for both the Andover community and its families. As we begin the designing process, we would like to hear your comments and concerns and respond to them as best we can," he said.

Among the residents' many questions and concerns were the issues of traffic and safety.

As Louise Macmillan of School Street said, "Nobody can argue with child care. This seems to me like a necessary and valuable project within the town. But there are safety issues that have affected many of us in the past, issues that we feel must be addressed."

Abutters feel that safety and traffic issues appear problematic for the PA site. With only one access road in the proposed plan, some neighbors foresee what one resident referred to as "virtual highway" conditions outside their homes, including dangerous intersections and long lines of cars during both morning and evening rush hours.

Mr. Finger explained that the project is trying to maximize drop-off and pick-up time by providing a parking lot within the designated area, 19 "drop-off spaces," and parallel parking so that parents can quickly come and go. He also said SHED will soon be meeting with traffic consultants who can assess patterns and probable amounts of transportation flow.

Community residents also voiced their frustrations with PA, which they claim has promised and not delivered on many occasions. As one neighbor said, "We have lost trust in Phillips and feel a lack of respect from them. Real basic demands haven't been met in the past so it's difficult for us to support your plans when we aren't really sure what we're getting into."

"I wish I had a crystal ball so that I could know if and how many of these issues will be resolved, so I could have some insight into Phillips Academy's long-term plans," said Don Gammon, an Abbot Street resident.

Mr. Finger explained that with the proposed site and building plans, SHED could possibly expand to up to 240 children. Neighbors wondered whether or not SHED will keep expand-

These amateurs are not just hamming it up

For amateur radio operators, Mr. Goonyep said ham radio takes the place of TV; when they get bored, they flip on their equipment and channel surf looking for a friend.

But ham radio also has a more serious side. For instance, Mr. Goonyep, a town radio officer since the late '70s, leads Andover's branch of MEMA, the Mass. Emergency Management Agency.

"They volunteer their radio service to the police department periodically throughout the year which is, in reality, practice for if ever there was a national emergency or natural disaster," said Andover Lt. Phil Froburg, operations commander at the police department. In case of wide-spread communication problems, the Andover area would rely on ham radio operators to keep in touch with the outside world [see related story, this page].

For the most part, though, hams spend their time keeping in touch with each other. Mr. Goonyep estimates there are about 60 ham-radio operators in Andover, about 15 of which are in MEMA. Hewlett-Packard, located off River Road, also has a radio club with about 30 members.

Yet, many of these people who regularly talk to each other wouldn't recognize their radio friends in person.

Mr. Goonyep said if he walked by one of his radio buddies on the street, "I would probably never recognize him because I've only known him over the air. But I would recognize his voice if we talked over the radio or telephone. I know him as well as anyone else because I converse with him three or four times a week."

Also, identifying people by code names alone – such as knowing Mr. Goonyep only as W1CUO – does have a clear downside. If a ham friend dies, the newspaper isn't going to print W2KQ died of a heart attack Tuesday, and as Mr. Goonyep put it, "I don't know Mr. So-and-so from a hole in the wall."

"Probably no other hams know my last name, but they would know my call signs," said Webster Street's Tony Brock-Fisher (K1KP), who is currently treasurer of the Hewlett-Packard radio club. "I have literally seen people putting just a call sign on a gravestone."

Considering they don't even know each other's last names, however, hams are a close-knit group. According to Mr. Brock-Fisher, when a man named Lester E. Johnson died, leaving no family, his ham friends purchased a tomb stone for him. On the stone were his call sign and the inscription "73," ham-talk for "best wishes."

Hamming can also run in the family. Mr. Goonyep and his wife, Judith (WA1ZES), are both hams, and Ms. Goonyep's uncle, Douglas Crocket was heavily involved with the local civil defense radio system.

Hams in space, around the globe

Some hams, such as Mr. Brock-Fisher (K1KP), compete in international competitions, contacting others at the rate of 100 people per hour.

There are a number of different competitions, and several methods of keeping score, though most apparently involve the number of people contacted over a specific period of time. Some give credit for the age of equipment used by those who are contacted, others for simulating emergency conditions.

According to Mr. Goonyep, there is also handicapping like there is in golf, "so you don't have one guy going off who's loaded for bear (with radio equipment) and another who has a BB gun."

In a recent world-wide competition Mr. Brock-Fisher contacted 1,440 people around the globe during a single 48 hour period.

Since he was issued a radio license in 1968, Mr. Brock-Fisher has contacted people living in regions populated by puffins and crawling with crocodiles, on remote Antarctic islands and in isolated regions of Australia.

While competing in a contest during the Persian Gulf War, he said he came across a message from the Persian Gulf, obviously sent by a man with a made-up call name.

"It was an American serviceman in Iraq trying to get a message home to his wife to tell her he was OK and would be home for Christmas," he said. "So I transmitted the message to his wife – and I still get Christmas cards from them."

He was also awarded extra contest points.

"I've heard it said that the Internet and information superhighway, and also the coming of age of personal computers, is siphoning off people" from ham radio, said Mr. Brock-Fisher. "But at the same time there are new and exciting things that are bringing people into ham radio."

Some hams now bounce their signals off of the moon or use satellites to transmit their messages, while others talk directly with astronauts circling the earth.

"But that's really hard to do. From their point of view, they're hearing a million people yelling at them," said Mr. Meldrum, with a chuckle. "The space shuttle people do that as their last priority. They have work to do."

Turkey and hams make for a nice Feaster

By Neil Fater

Turkey will tickle most people's fancy next Thursday afternoon, but Andover police enjoy seeing plenty of hams on Thanksgiving morning.

That's because hams – amateur radio operators – help police with traffic and communication during the early morning Feaster Five Road Race.

The Andover hams who do this are part of the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency, formerly known as the civil defense network, and are led by long-time operator Ed Goonyep. These radio lovers help police with many holiday events throughout the year, including the Fourth of July fireworks and Brickstone tree lighting.

"They definitely free us up because while they're the eyes and ears around the town buildings on Halloween or something, that's one less area we have to be concerned about," said Andover police Lt. Phil Froburg. "Not that (cruisers) don't swing through, but they know when they're not there one of the ham operators will be."

But Lt. Froburg says this communication serves mostly as practice so that the hams and police will be ready to work together in the event of a serious emergency that shuts down other forms of communication.

"I guess the concept is, when all else fails these ham radio operators" will not, said Lt. Froburg. "We would have at least one of those people in here (the police station) and probably use some of those out in the field. Hopefully we'll never need it, but you always try to plan for it ahead.

"With an earthquake or a hurricane or a tornado it would be very easy for us to lose all communication," he said. "You're going to need the ham operators. Your phone lines would be completely out."

Andover MEMA members have radio meetings every Monday at 7 p.m. and operate at 146.835 megahertz.

PA neighbors' steering committee to watch SHED project ing in the years to come. Given SHED's substantial waiting list and an ever-increasing number of Andover families needing such facilities, residents wanted to know if there would be any insurances about what will happen to the area in the future.

Mr. Finger said he can't foresee expanding beyond the already proposed plan at the PA location but a satellite program is possible.

"SHED is designed to provide both a personal and comfortable environment for children," Mr. Finger said. "It is not in the best interests of either SHED or its participants to exceed 240 or 250 within the proposed building space."

Other issues that need to be explored, say neighbors, concern noise levels, possible visual pollution, whether SHED will begin operating in the summer months, and the long-term plans for the proposed SHED site.

Residents say they are willing to work with both SHED and PA to create a plan that is acceptable to all parties involved. The steering committee will work with all interested families in the area to define certain concerns and specifications they feel need to be addressed, they said.

Continuing to explore developing options, SHED will meet with the Zoning Board of Appeals in early December. In the meantime, SHED committee members and area residents have scheduled a meeting for November 27 to further discuss the project. The time and location will be announced.

The SHED programs, established in 1983, were originally located at Shawsheen School until increased public school enrollment forced them to relocate. Presently, the morning program is spread throughout local elementary schools, and the afternoon program is at the Korean Church on Route 133.

Pictorial book chronicles people and places of Lawrence a pictorial history of the city simply entitled Lawrence, Massachusetts. Spanning more than 120 pages and almost as many years, the work is part of the Images of America series from Arcadia Publishers.

"Ten people could look at a photo and have different memories," said Ms. Dengler, fingering one of the book's selections.

Ms. Dengler said she likes using photographs for several reasons, one of which is because the written word can steer a reader toward one particular view. "But when you look at a work like this you interpret it with your own memories. When you look at it like this, I think a photo tells many different stories," she said.

Ms. Khalife, Mr. Skulski and Ms. Dengler, the founder and former director of Lawrence's Immigrant City Archives, had access to the archives' plethora of photos and selected more than 200 for this new soft-cover book. The book, carrying a $16.99 price tag, is billed as "the first extensive photographic history of Lawrence in 75 years." It covers the beginnings of Lawrence through about 1950.

"First of all, Lawrence had nothing published since a very scholarly book in the 1960s from a writer from Andover," said Ms. Dengler. "It's been almost 75 years since a book for the general public was published.

"We felt that our photographs could represent a picture of Lawrence up to today. In an immigrant community you have a lot less written accounts. The photograph really displaced the biography and the non-fiction account in Lawrence," she said. "Our collection of photographs is several thousand so it was not difficult to find them, it was difficult to pick the ones to tell the story best."

Ms. Dengler believes the book's photographs will bring back pleasant memories for many people whose families have either passed through Lawrence or still live there. She said people who have moved to surrounding suburbs often look at the archives' possessions and "a lot of them come to us and 'Ooh' and 'Ah' over the photos."

In many ways, then, the book is a nostalgic look back at the city's more bustling and hopeful times. "We really wanted to bring back Lawrence and tell its story in this book," she said.

As a result, Lawrence, Massachusetts differs greatly from this area's last book regarding Lawrence, Jeanne Schinto's Huddle Fever, [See Guest Review, page 34]. But while other locals have criticized Ms. Schinto's controversial book, Ms. Dengler can not be counted among its detractors.

"It's a very personal work. There are many events she saw the way I saw them and there were others we saw differently," said Ms. Dengler. "I think the book served a good service by making people discuss issues and getting (them) provoked into discussing social issues in Lawrence."

By contrast, Ms. Dengler and her associates tried to keep their beliefs to themselves, although Ms. Dengler admits that "once in a while I think we do bring our opinion in."

For instance, most readers will notice a decided dislike of urban renewal.

"Some of the tenements certainly were ready to be taken down but not all of them. And the land was used for speculation and stood empty for many years," said Ms. Dengler, who attributes Essex Street's problems in part to urban redevelopment. "It seemed to me people admired the old cities in Europe but they never gave the cities here time to grow old gracefully."

At one point in the work, the authors refer to tenements being "systematically destroyed" by urban redevelopment. Other opinions are introduced more subtly.

Ms. Dengler said her book "shows to us that the new immigrants and changes have always been going on."

According to Ms. Dengler from 1845 through 1945 there were 600 ethnic societies, schools and churches in Lawrence, and her book contains pictures of some of these establishments, the people who used them and the festivities that resulted from them.

"The changes that are now taking place with the Hispanics is just another example of a new immigrant group. This book has examples of other changes," she said. "We are not really preaching, 'See how it happened before? Now don't get upset.' We are just telling the story and hope people catch on."

When Ms. Dengler came to this area from Europe after World War II, she began working for the YMCA and the International Institute that helped care for new immigrant women and their families. She said she noticed "there was very little or no animosity" between mothers from the many different ethnic groups in the city.

Although the different groups often used different social clubs and houses of worship, Ms. Dengler said when a problem with their children came up "the bond between them as women and mothers existed and went beyond the ethnic groups."

For Ms. Dengler, this was quite different than some of the experiences she had seen in Europe. In fact, after the end of the war in Europe, Ms. Dengler and her husband, an aircraft engineer had to sneak out of Eastern Europe to avoid being stuck under communist rule.

On a bitter, windy night, they crossed the Baltic Sea on a fishing boat and swam to shore – and to safety – into the English-occupied zone of what would be West Berlin.

"It was November, so it was cold. But you can do a lot if you have to," she said. "We happened to get caught behind the Iron curtain and so we fled from there. It gives you a different perspective on how people can live and work together."

Lawrence, Massachusetts also gives readers different perspectives of how the people who built and breathed life into the Immigrant City lived and worked together.

Ms. Dengler and her associates, Ms. Khalife and Mr. Skulski, will sign copies of the book Saturday, Dec. 9, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Andover Books and Prints, and at Alphabet Books and Antiques, both located at 68 Park Street.

School Committee seeks state help with High School problems risk losing state reimbursement if it guts the tech plan. Susan Dalton, committee chairwoman, also said the education plan approved by the School Committee "is not to be held hostage, if you will, because there might be some shortage of funds at the High School."

School Committee members believe a meeting of school and building officials with James Anderson, of the Department of Education, will help drive this point home. They also indicated Mr. Anderson may be able to help the two committees avoid stepping on each others toes.

School Committee members reaffirmed Tuesday that education-related items should not be cut from the High School project to make up for the estimated $1 million shortfall.

"We can't have the school delivered as an empty box," said Mr. Willey. "The only thing that's left (to cut) are some of the things we're most vitally concerned with."

Mr. Willey and Dick Muller said it's time for officials to admit there is a serious financial problem with the High School project and to deal with it. Dealing with the lack of funds could mean returning to Town Meeting and asking residents to approve more money to complete the project.

"We can't bury our head in the sand any more and say we don't have a problem," said Mr. Muller. "We're all sitting here and we all know that's not true."

Mr. Muller said he's been hearing for years about the mistakes people made while the Collins Center was being built.

> 'We can't bury our head in the sand any more.'
> Dick Muller

"We can't afford to make that kind of mistake at the High School," he said.

While a majority of the committee was unhappy with the building committee's refusal to approve funds for the tech plan, David Birnbach said he believes the building committee is simply forcing the committee to do its job – namely, to develop a more specific plan.

"I really hope that we as elected officials can work together to solve the problems and not be so concerned with individual turf. I think the people in town want to see all the boards work together more actively than they have to date, since I've been a member of the board," he said, Wednesday. "We need to identify in greater detail what the technology needs will be at the High School and how technology will be integrated into the class activities and curriculum."

The School Building Committee had asked Mr. Birnbach to work with the ad hoc technology committee to analyze whether any cuts could be made in the technology plan at the High School. He said Wednesday the technology committee will not look at cuts now, but will try to get more accurate cost estimates to the building committee.

EDITORIALS

Take part in the Special Town Meeting

Special Town Meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m., at the Collins Center, adjacent to Andover High School. There is only one article on the warrant: To see if the town will rezone a piece of industrial land adjacent to Den Rock Park so it can be developed as a residential subdivision.

The article asks voters to rezone 54 acres off Stirling Street from Industrial D to Single Residence B. The change would allow developers to build a 25- to 30-lot cluster subdivision on the Andover portion of the property.

Cluster development allows use of smaller lots in order to preserve some land that is then deeded to the town and never developed. If residents vote at Special Town Meeting not to rezone the property, only business, commercial or industrial developments could locate there.

Last April voters at Town Meeting rejected a proposal for more and larger lots than those in this proposal.

This new plan calls for the 25 to 30 lots to be built on 30 percent of the property. Roughly 70 percent of the property would be deeded to the town as open space.

One major problem with the property is that the owner, Rose Champy, owes $357,000 in back property taxes to the town, and a total of approximately $2 million on the property.

There are those who want the town to buy the parcel and to preserve its trails and acres, especially along the Shawsheen River. With a pricetag of $2-$4 million, that seems unrealistic, unless someone can assure voters that there is a good chance the town could attract a grant for the purchase price.

Whatever your decision on this important issue, you won't have a say unless you attend Monday's Special Town Meeting. The issue will be discussed from both points of view Monday, and residents will have a chance to ask their questions. Being Thanksgiving week, it's probably a bad time of year for a town meeting, but it should not last long since there is just one article on the warrant. Be there.

Huddle Fever: Living in the Immigrant City

GUEST REVIEW

By Mark Schorr

Jeanne Schinto's new book, (Huddle Fever, Alfred Knopf, $24), is by her own description a travel book. It is the story of the mental immigration that we all must make when we move from one place to another. But because it describes her move with her husband, Bob Frishman, to Lawrence, Mass, a place known as the Immigrant City, and because of the special history there of great mills and legendary strikes, it should become a required text for all of us. That is because it describes a place we have all come from – whether our forebears actually worked in the mill in Lawrence.

It describes the "huddle fever" – the closeness and identity-formation of immigrant families, which we either put behind us or still live in.

The immigrant experience may be the only thing that unites all Americans – whether our ancestors came via a land bridge at the end of the Pleistocene, the Staten Island ferry, on the Santa Maria or the Mayflower, in a slaver's galley or in steerage, by crossing the 49th Parallel or the Rio Grande. But usually we put aside the immigrant experience as quickly as we learn the language or the system. As quickly as immigrant children can learn the ropes, they try to bring their greenhorn parents along with them.

In this case, the process is reversed. When Jeanne's husband, Bob, finds a Victorian house at an affordable price, they move to Lawrence and, as children of immigrants who know the system well, they now become immigrants again. Jeanne grew up as the child of first-generation Italians in Greenwich, Conn., and Bob in Andover, a place to which people often aspire after they leave Lawrence. But in this case, the lure of affordable housing and sheer curiosity brought them back, (just as my wife and I once took a sabbatical year to live in the mill town where I was working in a high-technology mill.) More importantly, Jeanne Schinto chose to write about the experience in a way that can only be helpful for others who might become part of the community itself. The night of her book signing at the Andover Bookstore, many people mentioned in the book came, and one man, who was clearly a third-generation Lawrence insider, pronounced it the best book anyone had ever written about his town.

Perhaps this is because Ms. Schinto pulls no punches. She is honest about the things that do not work as well as the things that do. In the long run, living in Lawrence was not always easy for Jeanne and Bob, but it was important for them and the community. In the 10 years that they lived in the Immigrant City, Jeanne by her own admission got in touch with her working class roots. Bob came up with a prescription for Lawrence's ills (attract small business) and ran for office against the local machine to put his ideas into action. Most importantly, they made friends, who helped them to discover their own identities.

Finally, Jeanne wrote this remarkable book, which to insiders as well as to this outsider is probably the best book they will read about the Immigrant City, and about the mental traveling we must do to reclaim those important parts of our past that have fallen into disrepair.

Mark Schorr is a poet who lives in Andover and works in Lowell.

Selectman Finegold supports rezoning

Editor, Townsman:

When I was knocking on doors in my campaign for selectman this past spring, I made a commitment to the residents of Andover that I would work to make town government more efficient and effective so we could lessen our burden on the property tax and maintain quality services for less money. I also made a commitment to preserve Andover's tradition as a small New England town and the community values which accompany it. Because of these commitments, I am declaring my support for the rezoning of the Champy property at Town Meeting this Monday, Nov. 20.

As someone who was raised in this town and who cares about it greatly, there are two questions I always ask when an issue comes before me: 1 – "Is it in the best interest of Andover?"; and 2 – "Is it consistent with the values of the community?"

The answer to the first question is yes. Rezoning the Champy property will provide the town with $400,000 in revenue from the back taxes that could help fund schools, public safety or a new senior center. Effective and responsible town government must seize this kind of opportunity.

Equally important is the fact that 70 percent of the property will be given for free to the Conservation Commission and preserved for open space uses. Although I understand the concerns of some residents who seek to preserve 100 percent of the property, I cannot in good faith support spending $3 million of taxpayer money for the property. Why spend $3 million to purchase the land when the town will receive practically three quarters of it for free if it is rezoned?

My answer to the second question, on whether rezoning the property is consistent with the values of the community, is also yes. As someone who works in the banking industry and who often sees very capable people succumb to bankruptcy, I can speak with some authority when I say many people are not very far away from experiencing Rose Champy's plight. If that was my mother or my grandmother, I would want people to show compassion for her and offer her assistance. The Andover I grew up in would not turn its back on an elderly woman asking for help.

For these reasons, I urge the town to vote yes to rezone the Champy property at Monday's Town Meeting.

Rezoning not a win-win

Editor, Townsman:

The development-minded supporters of the Nov. 20 Special Town Meeting's single article portray its proposed land-use change as a "win-win" situation. Why, then, does the legislative context – a quorum-free session during Thanksgiving week – seem virtually clandestine?

We ought to look beyond the stated options for "developing" this now-rare tract of open land, beyond how to deal fairly with the distressed owner, and beyond how to optimize town finances. Let's ask:

- Need we really take action now? Not if potential, but hardly certain, industrial development is still preferable (as it was in April) to the building of another clump of houses (albeit with some conservation concessions – of land that's reportedly unbuildable anyway).
- Couldn't we first work harder toward a plan that would preserve more of this property, while still benefiting the town's coffers and even alleviating Ms. Champy's debt?
- Will we ever stop clearing the way for more single-family house projects and their added burdens on schools, infrastructure, natural resources, public safety systems, waste handling capacities, etc.?

The Nov. 9 letter from Mr. Perkins, by its dubious claims and its sanctimony, weakened its own credibility. It's untrue that "nobody has questioned that this property should be residentially zoned" and name-calling of the conservation-minded opposition ("selfishness," "greed" and "only care about themselves") is surely uncalled for.

Voters should recognize this as more than just another business deal. Our first concern ought to be for the future quality of our town and its environment. Come to Monday's Town Meeting; hear the statements and think about it carefully before you vote. Help avoid another unnecessary loss of open space to ill-advised growth.

Urges a no vote on rezoning Champy land

Editor, Townsman:

Vote no on rezoning of Champy Land in Shawsheen Village.

The developers were defeated in an attempt to rezone this wooded area from industrial to residential at last April's town meeting and are now forcing town residents to vote on another rezoning scheme that would certainly result in additional housing construction.

Contrary to what they would have us believe, the choice is not simply between residential or industrial development; there is a third option – conservation – but this option can only be pursued if the rezoning article is defeated. Wherever you live in Andover, your vote on this article is essential if we as a community are to identify and put a stop to the lies that accompany unbridled development. Recognition of the following points will help you make your decision:

1. The alternative to residential development of the Champy land is not just the threat of industrial development, but the real possibility of conservation. There is a public land trust with the financial expertise to facilitate a purchase and to help access state funding sources for this purpose. If invited, this land trust will work with the town to pursue the conservation goal.

2. The developers have been presenting a seductive plan outlining a "low impact" SRB development on the Andover portion of the Champy land, but have not addressed plans to co-develop adjacent Champy property in Lawrence for approximately 300 multi-family units. These plans, plus other potential development sites in the Shawsheen area, give us the whole picture – that the rezoning article is not the end, but just the beginning of further urban sprawl.

3. Studies have shown that the long-term impact of increased residential development is much more costly to a community than is land conservation.

4. The tactic for calling a special town meeting on a single issue like this is to allow the petitioner to stack the meeting with supporters in the hope that the rest of the town will not have enough interest to participate. In this case, the entire future of our Andover community is being held hostage to the needs of a single non-resident property owner and the greed of property development interests.

If you are concerned about the future of Andover, it is essential that you and your neighbors come to special Town Meeting on Nov. 20 and participate in the vote.

Stop the growth, retain open space

Editor, Townsman:

The Planning Board rubber-stamps minimum postage-stamp lots for expensive developments. The demand for more school building emerges with every new household. Inevitably the quality of education diminishes: large classes and cuts in many programs.

With each development, more town services are required: roads and road repair, sewer, electricity, telephone and water.

North Andover, through zealous mismanagement, polluted their water supply, Lake Cochichewick – far larger than Haggetts Pond – which we will drain as we supply too many large houses, some with swimming pools, and we continue to sell water to North Reading.

Also remember that every development demands an increase in police and fire department personnel.

Our business area is suffering a constant turnover of stores and has lost two that truly contributed to everyday needs – the hardware store and the stationary store. They could not afford the ever-increasing rent.

We sorely need wise, professional environmental and economic planning, which cannot be accomplished by well-meaning amateur citizens. Larger lots do not constitute "snob zoning" as can be seen when we gaze at the large expensive houses the "non-snobs" build.

Bob Pustell, currently chairman of the Planning Board, has said that good conservation means good business and a good quality of life. He observed, "What makes a good city? Open spaces. The higher the population density, the worse the living quarters and the more it costs to live there. Proximity to open land makes it desirable and drives land values up, provided it is convenient to where jobs are. Thus the town collects more money per unit toward the cost of administering the town. The more open space the more the town collects in taxes per unit. If you have a fair amount of open space, no matter how crowded our community becomes, it will still remain attractive."

Three encourage rejecting rezoning

Editor, Townsman:

After careful consideration of the pros and cons, we feel that Andover's voters should reject the rezoning (petition) at next week's Special Town Meeting. The proposal before us is similar to one rejected last April – it still weakens Andover's ability to craft more attractive alternatives.

At first glance the developer's proposal looks good: it proposes to solve Rose Champy's financial problem; it lays to rest a possible industrial park which nobody wants; it provides more green space and fewer house lots.

But a closer look reveals concerns:

1. Many economic studies prove that residential development of this kind fails to pay for itself in the long run, because real estate tax revenue falls short of additional school and municipal costs.

2. If we rezone, the town can only effect what happens next through a very restricted permitting process, which makes it difficult to make sure that developer promises are kept. It also means we lose the opportunity to bargain to obtain a better deal.

3. Champy land is being used to facilitate a (separate) high-rise, high-density apartment development (also) on the Andover/Lawrence line (in Lawrence), which will negatively impact Den Rock Park and increase traffic congestion in Andover. Additional undesirable development on abutting properties could follow.

4. Fairness to Rose Champy: As long as there's movement toward a solution, the IRS and the bankruptcy court are likely to hold off. We think a town-initiated process can negotiate a better deal for both area residents and Rose Champy.

LETTERS

Reject rezoning

5. The better deal can be funded from a variety of sources – not exclusively Andover's taxpayers. Certainly Andover should be willing to expend some of its open space bond money to protect the Shawsheen River, but a sound regional land use agreement could qualify for regional funding from state and/or private conservation sources. This partnership funding process hasn't been given a chance. Andover's selectmen have voted to support this approach if the rezoning fails, and there are conservation organizations willing to become involved.

Cutline gave wrong message

Editor, Townsman:

This letter was sent to Gene Doran. It is a response to a picture and caption that appeared in the Oct. 12 issue of the Townsman.

Dear Mr. Doran:

We were very disappointed with the manner in which the Townsman described your visit to the high school. We can assure you that the students took more than just "what it is like to live in a wheelchair" away from your sharing of personal experiences. It was very noble of you to share with us all that you have endured, both positive and negative.

Ms. Atkinson and Ms. Holden told us that you were asked to come in order to give the students a new perspective on life. Because of the stress and pressure caused by school and other outside forces, it is easy to lose sight of what is truly important in life. Ms. Atkinson and Ms. Holden saw this happening among the students of Andover High. They knew that hearing from such a strong and courageous person with such a positive outlook on life would help to shed some light on what truly matters.

We have talked with many of our classmates and found that they were very moved by what you had to say. Many spoke about how they left the room after hearing you speak with tears of happiness in their eyes and a new passion for living. We all found your courage, optimism and determination to be uplifting and values to try to obtain in our own lives. Above all, we learned from you that no matter what obstacles one encounters, life is always worth living.

We are writing this letter to thank you for taking the time out of your extraordinary life to show us that our lives, too, can be extraordinary. You made us realize how precious life is. These days heroes are hard to come by, but we have found one in you.

Celebrate National Family Week over Thanksgiving

Editor, Townsman:

Even though newspapers daily cite startling and disturbing statistics on the changing family unit, one thing remains unchanged. Families are the basic unit of society. They are the place where human beings are nurtured, loved, guided and supported. Families need to be valued, no matter what form they take.

During Thanksgiving week, Nov. 19-25, Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence joins Family Service America in proclaiming and celebrating National Family Week. This year's theme, Celebrate Families, emphasizes the positive aspects of healthy family life.

As part of the National Family Week campaign, Family Service Association asks that Lawrence schools, places of worship, government, businesses and human service organizations all re-evaluate the importance they place on families. Are we family-friendly places? Do we find ways to strengthen and support the family unit? Does our government institute policies that call for strong communities? Do businesses address critical work/family issues?

During National Family Week, let's remember the importance of families for each of us, as well as for our community, our state, our nation. Families need support and strength in carrying out their irreplaceable role. Families are too important for society to ignore.

Townsman is looking for Community Spirit nominations

The Townsman is looking for nominations for its first Community Spirit Award, to be given at the first of the year to an organization or individual who has done something extraordinary for the town or for individuals in town.

The newspaper is asking groups or individuals to nominate people or organizations for the award. A panel of five community people (to be chosen) will make the award decision.

Making the award will be a good way for the community to recognize individuals and groups that reach out to different groups or people in town. To be eligible, the organization, the service delivered, or the individual has to be Andover-based.

Examples of appropriate nominations would be a school grade that has "adopted" a needy person; a business that drives people to medical appointments; a group that raised the cash to buy a wheelchair for an individual; a church or temple group that in some way helps a needy family or group; or an individual who reads to a shut-in person.

Please write the nomination in one page or less. Include your name and phone number. The best nominees will be included in the newspaper's story about the award.

Nominations are due Friday, Dec. 8, at 5 p.m. Questions? Call Editor Perry Colmore at 508-475-1943. If you would like to fax your nomination, send it to 508-470-2819. If you'd like to e-mail it, send toTownsman@aol.com; or send it to Community Spirit Award, Andover Townsman, 33 Chestnut St., Andover MA 01810.

Your Dental HEALTH
by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

WHITEN UP!

The desire for whiter teeth and brighter smiles is what drives many patients to the dentist's office for in-office bleaching. This quickest and longest-lasting of all bleaching procedures makes use of a high concentration of an active ingredient (usually a 30 to 35 percent solution of hydrogen peroxide), which is brushed on the teeth and activated with heat or light. The treatment generally requires two to four sessions and its effects typically last three to five years. Also available from the dentist is take-home bleaching, which makes use of a custom-fitted carrier tray to deliver a prescribed cleaning gel to the teeth as patients sleep. This treatment typically takes up to two weeks of such overnight use to gain results.

Bleaching is one of the three most common smile fixers available today. It works on your teeth much the same as it does on your clothes, by lightening discoloration and stains caused by coffee, tea, tobacco, food, and age. If your teeth stand in the way of a brilliant smile, ask us about the many ways available today to whiten, brighten, and straighten them. We'll be happy to discuss any of your dental concerns – just call us at 475-2431, 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 with easy access off Rt 93.

P.S. All bleaching procedures must provide measures to protect the gums from bleaching agents.

Understanding Chiropractic
by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

SPORTING CHANGES

By now, nearly every fan of professional sports is aware of the fact that athletes of the highest caliber avail themselves of the expertise of chiropractors to help them avert injury and maintain the highest possible degree of efficiency. The benefits of chiropractic, however, are not limited to Olympic athletes and those who make a living at sports. Anyone who engages in athletic activity is likely to place great strain on his or her body. Not only can spinal nerves become pinched as a result of sprains and other trauma to the neck and back, but improper biomechanics and muscular imbalances can lead to injury. Those who engage in sports that emphasize the use of one side of the body invite structural imbalances that can result in pain and muscular deficiency. Chiropractors look at the entire body in an effort to restore balance and harmony that helps avert injury or restore health after injury has occurred.

From spine related conditions, to sports injuries, tension headaches, neck arm and leg pain, to general health problems, DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP offers gentle and safe chiropractic care to the entire family. We regularly pursue study of new chiropractic developments and techniques. We're located at 15 Central Street, where we provide our patients with excellent chiropractic health care in a comfortable and efficient environment. To schedule an appointment, please call 475-5042.

P.S. As experts in biomechanics, chiropractors can look at the actions of athletes and note structural problems that may hinder performance.

AHS men's soccer loses tough sectional final, 5-2

By Rick Harrison

There was no way Andover High men's varsity soccer coach Dave Amundsen could fault his team after the top-seeded Golden Warriors were ousted from the MIAA Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Sectional Tournament 5-2 by Somerville in the championship final last weekend at the neutral Danvers High field.

"I was pleased with our effort against Somerville," said the veteran coach. "Our kids didn't fall down or collapse for a minute. They played hard until the end.

"Somerville is just that much faster than we are. They have excellent ball skills, and it's difficult to fathom how they ever lost three games and tied two. Especially in their league (Greater Boston) which isn't that strong."

The Hilltoppers, seeded No. 3 and 17-3-2 overall after the victory against Andover, have apparently turned it up a couple notches in the tournament.

They opened with a 7-1 romp over Merrimack Valley Conference team Lowell, followed with a 5-1 blitz of Waltham, and shut down No. 2 seed Acton-Boxboro 2-0 in the semifinals.

The five goals marked the first time all season, 22 games, that Andover had yielded more than two in a game. The Golden Warriors allowed only 28 overall while scoring 72.

The major thorn in the Golden Warriors' side was Vladimir Texeira, who assisted on the first goal and then scored the final four to pace Somerville.

The loss, Andover's second straight in the North Sectional title game (3-0 last year to St. John's Prep), completed one of the Golden Warriors' most successful seasons ever.

Coach Amundsen's crew finished at 17-2-3 overall, winning the MVC championship for the 10th time in the last 20 years before recording consecutive tournament victories over Beverly (4-1), Salem (2-1 in overtime) and MVC rival Central Catholic (5-2).

The loss to Somerville also snapped a 10-game win streak and 14-game undefeated skein (13-0-1).

"We had 20 seniors on the roster and they all supported each other well. Just about everyone on the team played his final high school game against Somerville," said coach Amundsen.

"This group was a lot of fun to work with and watch. They passed the ball well, trapped well and all season long displayed the kind of teamwork you rarely see in high school soccer."

Banquet

The AHS men's and women's varsity soccer awards banquets will be held simultaneously at the Andover Marriott on Thursday night, Dec. 7.

A number of major team awards will be distributed at that time.

Top scorers

Andover's top two guns all season, Eric Dubasak and Shaun Rodriguez, finished just three points apart as Dubasak had 15 goals, 13 assists and Rodriguez 14 goals, 11 assists.

Dubasak graduates as one of the all-time high scorers in Andover men's soccer history with 39 goals (19 as a junior, five as a sophomore) and 17 assists.

Other leading marksmen were the only two juniors who played regularly, Tim Smith with nine goals, seven assists and Matt Yost eight goals, four assists.

Coach Amundsen will be chasing a major milestone next fall, 250 career wins, when he enters the season with a 243-70-55 overall won-lost-tied record for 20 years.

EMass. North final
Somerville 5
Andover 2

The Hilltoppers bolted to a quick 2-0 first-half lead when Vladimir Texeira set up the first goal and scored the second.

Eric Dubasak trimmed the MVC champs' deficit to 2-1 during the 33rd minute of the half, converting a Shaun Rodriguez pass for his 15th goal of the season and 39th of his prolific three-year AHS career.

Texeira countered just one minute later, however, to give the North champs a 3-1 advantage at the half.

Texeira connected twice more in the second half to boost the lead to 5-1, before senior sweeper Ryan Hadley netted his sixth goal of the season with 10 minutes to play. Rodriguez notched his second assist of the game.

Zach Smith played the first 74 minutes and Mike Scarpulla the final six in the Andover net, combining for 17 saves as Somerville outshot the Golden Warriors, 22-17.

"We threw every defender we had at Texeira but he still killed us," said coach Amundsen. "He was able to get around, through and behind them all with a lot of 1-on-1 moves."

Cited for strong play throughout the game were senior midfielders Jason Nicholson, John Kulp and Alex Dalis, along with underclassmen Tim Smith and Matt Yost on the forward line.

North semifinal
Andover 5
Central Catholic 2

The Golden Warriors pulled away from MVC rival Central in the final 21 minutes of the second half, breaking open a tight 3-2 game on goals by Peter Ellis and Aaron Bancroft.

The goal was only the second of the season for Ellis and the first for senior defender Bancroft.

"We definitely came to play," said coach Amundsen. "We didn't want to get caught sleeping the way we did in the second regular-season game against Central. We had a 2-0 lead with 10 minutes left, but our No. 1 goalkeeper and several other regulars were out and they came back to tie us 2-2.

John Kulp's fifth goal, assisted by Pat Hess, gave Andover a quick 1-0 lead at the six-minute mark.

Shaun Rodriguez doubled the advantage to 2-0 just 10 minutes later with a bullet from outside the 18-yard area that sailed over Central goalkeeper Justin Gagne's head.

Mike Trovato brought surprise semi-finalist Central, seeded No. 13 in a 16-school field with an 8-5-7 record, back to 2-1 with a goal four minutes from the half.

Eric Dubasak upped the count to 3-1 at the 16-minute mark of the second half, senior defender Chris Rogers assisting for his first point of the season.

Central closed the gap to 3-2 one minute later when Dan Kucharski blasted home a penalty kick.

"At that point we decided to take some chances," said Central coach Ray Flaherty. "We're not the kind of team that scores a lot of goals, so we started to gamble and we got caught."

Two minutes after Kucharski's connection, Ellis headed the ball home at the far post after a corner kick by Dubasak.

Bancroft provided the final insurance with five minutes to play, banging home the rebound of a 25-yard crossing shot by Dubasak as Tim Smith distracted the CCHS goalkeeper.

Zach Smith finished with eight saves for

Pee-Wee Cs win 3 in tourney

Andover's Pee-Wee Cs participated recently in the ninth annual Haverhill Youth Hockey Tournament, held at Haverhill High School hockey arena. At the pee-wee level, Andover was the only C-level team, facing off against B teams from Haverhill, and Amesbury, and a New Jersey Select B team.

Andover shutout Haverhill 3-0. The end-to-end action featured the strong goaltending of Mike Reed and the excellent defense core of Jeff Ahern, Tom Machelhaney, Joe Castonguay, and Adam Caterino. The offense gradually chipped away, on the two-way work of Erik Peikin, Buddy Morris and Steve Kramer.

Then Andover beat Amesbury, 6-2. A strong defensive effort provided a transition game that allowed Jim McCarthy, Jeff Nadelson, and James Ford, to overpower the defenders with their strong physical play. Danny Berman, Mike Lanciani and Tucker Prudden contributed excellent playmaking and heads-up backchecking.

From the opening face off against the New Jersey team, both teams came after each other, as the up-and-down action never stopped. With great team effort, Andover jumped to a 3-0 lead at the end of the first period. New Jersey battled back with two quick goals at the end of period 2. However, Andover protect their one goal lead to preserve the 3-2 victory.

Championship plaques were awarded to each player on the ice after the game. Andover's coaches are Frank McCarthy and Jim Lanciani. Player Shariar Gandchi was unable to attend the tournament.

Women's soccer goes down to defeat in semifinals, 2-1

By Rick Harrison

Despite a spectacular performance in the net by senior captain Meghan Lynch, the Andover High women's soccer team was victimized by a pair of second-half Winchester goals in a tough 2-1 loss to the Sachems in their MIAA Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Sectional Tournament semifinal round game at the neutral Woburn High field.

The setback to nationally-ranked No. 2 Winchester brought to a close one of the finest campaigns in the history of the AHS women's program.

Coach Dick Loschi's Lady Warriors, ranked 22nd in the nation at one point, finished 17-2-1 with a huge 83-11 scoring edge on the opposition and 12 shutouts. The 17 wins are believed to be the second most in a season (19 in 1988).

Middlesex League champion Winchester (18-1-1), tied by Merrimack Valley Conference titlist Andover 1-1 earlier this fall, swarmed all over the locals from opening to final whistle and finished with a 30-6 shooting advantage.

"We couldn't stop the tide. Couldn't bail the water out as fast as it was coming in," said coach Loschi.

Only the superb work of the talented Lynch kept it close, as she was credited with 28 saves on the night.

"She stopped two clean breakaways and four or five other point-blank shots," said Loschi. "It started early, 30 seconds into the game, when a Winchester player broke in clean and kicked the ball past Meghan. But the ball never made it to the net because Liz Salvia came flying out of nowhere and cleared it with a sliding kick.

"At that point I said to myself 'maybe this is going to be our night. Maybe we're going to have that kind of luck.'"

Halftime lead

Andover took a 1-0 lead at 21:57 of the first half on senior forward Elaine Licata's third goal of the season.

The assist went to senior midfielder Shira Hermosa, who broke out of the Andover end and cleared a pass across in front that Licata one-touched past diving Winchester keeper Katie Hammond from 18 yards away.

"We just couldn't come back with enough firepower to sustain any pressure," said coach Loschi.

Nevertheless, the Lady Warriors maintained the slender 1-0 edge until Sachems' All-American Corinne Imperatore tied it at 10:36 of the second half. Imperatore also scored the goal with 11 minutes left that enabled Winchester to salvage its 1-1 regular season tie with Andover.

Megan Harvey beat Meghan Lynch with the game-winner at 18:05, the goal set up nicely by the pesky Imperatore.

"We had three excellent chances to send it to overtime in the last 10 minutes," said coach Loschi. "The best opportunity was created by Jenn Munroe (24 goals). The keeper slipped and fell but Munroe's shot took a bounce right to her stomach. When that happened it was clear we weren't going to get any late breaks."

In addition to Lynch, the outstanding play of Salvia was singled out.

"Liz was forced to play out of position, as a marking back, and she had the finest game of her career," said coach Loschi.

Salvia was filling in for senior defender Christine Contos, who was knocked out cold and suffered a full-fledged concussion in the quarterfinal round tourney victory over Bishop Fenwick.

"The Winchester coach (Chris Scanlon) said his team is never forced to play as hard as it is against us," noted Loschi. "This is one of the best Winchester teams I've seen. They have more weapons this year than I can ever remember."

Banquet

The Andover women's soccer team awards banquet will be held simultaneous to the Andover men's soccer banquet on Thursday night, Dec. 7 at the Andover Marriott.

A number of major awards will be distributed at that time.

Scoring leaders

Jenn Munroe finished as the Lady Warriors' top scorer with a possible single-season school record 24 goals and nine assists.

For her AHS career the sharpshooting sniper netted 44 goals (13 as junior, seven as freshman) and 24 assists for 68 points in three years. She missed her sophomore season with a knee injury.

Other top producers this fall were Sue Cookson with 10 goals and 10 assists, Jen Murnane 10 goals and six assists, Vanessa Blank nine goals and six assists, Missy Famiglietti four goals and six assists.

Meghan Lynch registered six solo shutouts and shared in five others, and for her three-year career Lynch posted 14 solo shutouts and participated in 25 Andover whitewashes altogether.

Coach Loschi, who notched his landmark 150th career victory this fall, will begin next season with a 156-41-23 won-lost-tied record.

Graduates

The 16 seniors who played their final game for Andover include team Captains Meghan Lynch and Sue Cookson, Jenn Munroe, Vanessa Blank, Liz Salvia, Susan Ashlock, Christine Contos, Missy Famiglietti, Randi Spiegel, Jen Aylward, Erin Collins, Elaine Licata, Shira Hermosa, Amy DiDomenico and goalkeepers Beth Lee and Jen Prudden.

AHS/Punchard High Hall of Fame dinner is next Friday

Eleven individual athletes and/or coaches, along with a pair of state championship basketball teams, will be inducted into the Andover High School /Punchard High Hall of Fame during ceremonies set for Friday night, Nov. 24 at the Old Town Hall.

There will also be a Special Recognition Award presented to longtime Andover resident, and former Andover High School football and track coach, Robert McIntyre.

The induction program will begin at 7 p.m.

Individuals who will enter the Hall of Fame are:

Frank "Doc" Dushame (Class of 1938)
Edward Doherty (1945)
Coach Wilbur Hixon (1956-1993)
Burt Damon (1958)
John McCormick (1961)
Patricia Lynch (1964)
Meredith Hanson (1969)
Margaret Myers Murray (1978)
Carmen Scarpa (1982)
Peter Comeau (1984)
Karen Del Sarto (1988)

The teams to be saluted at the Andover High School/Punchard High dinner are the 1950 state champion men's basketball squad and the 1970 Massachusetts state champion men's basketball squad.

Members of the 1970 hoop team, which won the State Class C title with a victory over Boston English at Boston Garden, were Co-Captains Paul Howe and Dick Muller, Shawn Mason, Dave Hixon, Neal Davis, Steve Lanier, Tom Adams, Bill Moriarty, Mark Suduiko, Karl Nilsson, Steve Alexander, Chris Post, Peter Leitch, Arthur Nichols and Jim L'Italien.

Wilbur Hixon was the head coach, Bill Vickers and Dick Swift the assistant coaches, and team managers were John Armson, Robert Towne and trainer Jim Boothby.

Robert McIntyre is currently a member of the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association (MIAA) hierarchy and overseer of the state high school Super Bowl football games.

Previously he was a successful football and track coach at Andover High in the 1950's before resigning to accept a similar position in the Melrose school system.

Tickets for this event may be picked up at the athletic office, the school administration building, Whittier Court. The deadline is Friday, Nov, 17. Call 623-8570 for more information.

Russo goes to states

By Rick Harrison

Andover High men's cross country senior Captain Charlie Russo will wrap up his 1995 fall season in style on Saturday when he competes in the annual All-State Championship Meet to be run over the 2.9 mile course at Gardner Municipal Golf Club.

Russo earned his spot in the season-ending race with a strong ninth place individual finish at last weekend's MIAA Eastern Mass. Division 1 Championship Meet held on the 3.1 mile trail at Franklin Park in Dorchester. Russo, who placed 17th at the 1994 EMass. Division 1 Meet and was 16th in the recent State Coaches Invitational, was the top AHS finisher and the lone Golden Warriors' harrier to qualify for the All-State Meet.

Both the Andover men's and women's squads placed 15th in the standings at the Division 1 Meet.

Andover men

Russo, also a top miler on the winter and spring track teams, saved perhaps his best performance of the fall for the Division 1 Meet as he clocked 16:50 at Franklin Park en route to ninth in a field of more than 200 runners. Russo was the top individual finisher among all area MVC harriers, as the AHS men scored 373 points en route to 15th place. Also scoring for the Merrimack Valley Conference Small School champions were junior Don Pattullo (54th, 17:52), junior Todd Collins (77th, 18:07), Matt Herling (104th, 18:27) and senior Leo Blais (129th, 18:54).

Also competing were senior Tim Kearns (153rd, 19:14) and senior Captain Chris Mann (170th, 19:33).

Andover women

The Lady Warriors placed 15th as well after scoring 419 points in Division 1. Sophomore Catherine Blais was the first local across, 30th in a field of more than 150 harriers with a 21:22 clocking for 3.1 miles.

Other scorers were freshman Kristin Munson (65th, 22:12), junior Meghan Woo (100th, 23:01), junior Melissa Ying (104th, 23:08) and junior Abby Clarke (120th, 23:26). Also competing were Nikki Winters (122nd, 23:28) and Jen Schapira (127th, 23:36).

Swimmers take 4th at tourney

By Rick Harrison

Sparked by second place individual finishes from senior Captain Diana Liberty and sophomore Jenna Blongiewicz, the Andover High women's swim team nailed down fourth place at the MIAA Eastern Mass. North Sectional Championship Meet held over two days last weekend at Regis College in Weston.

Liberty was second in both the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events, Blongiewicz runner-up in the 100 free, and the Lady Warriors also had three 1-meter divers place among the top 12 en route to 126 overall team points.

More than a dozen members of Coach Marilyn Fitzgerald's AHS squad, 7-4 during the dual meet season, will wrap up the 1995 campaign by competing at the annual All-State Meet this Saturday at Wellesley College (2 p.m. start).

North Sectionals

Diana Liberty touched second in the 200 freestyle with a 2:02.53 time, and she also was second to Chelmsford's Clewis Kinnett in the 500 free with a 5:21.45 clocking.

Jenna Blongiewicz posted a 55.91 for second place in the 100 freestyle, and added a seventh place in the 50 free with a 26.17.

AHS one-meter divers who placed were Caroline Crocker, fourth with 380.10 points, fellow freshman Becky Ambro sixth with 333.60 points and junior Nicole Carpentier eighth at 329.80.

Junior Meghan Donahue finished seventh in the 100 butterfly (1:04.39), while sophomore Brenna O'Connor earned points in both the 500 freestyle (8th, 5:38.77) and 200 freestyle (12th, 2:07.95). Sophomore Kalley Thomas gave Andover its third placewinner in the 500 free after touching 11th in 5:46.00. The locals earned sixth places in the relays, the 200 medley quartet of Erin Rogacki, Caitlin Fitzpatrick, Donahue and Jen Paull at 2:06.59 and the 400 free foursome of Lisa Jayne, Michelle Vitale, Liberty and Blongiewicz at 4:02.12.

AHS football loses to Billerica in hard-fought game

By Rick Harrison

Wait 'til next year.

The Andover High football team will be playing its final two games for pride, after Billerica eliminated all hopes for a share of the Merrimack Valley Conference championship with a hard-fought 21-15 victory over the Golden Warriors before 1,000 fans last weekend at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

The Indians did most of their damage early, and then weathered a late Andover charge that fell short when the visitors produced a pair of crucial pass interceptions to halt Golden Warriors threats. The loss snapped a four-game AHS win streak, leaving AHS at 5-3-0 overall and 5-2 in the MVC.

The victory enabled BMHS to grab a share of second place with Andover, but neither team can now catch idle Tewksbury which is undefeated (8-0-0) with only one league game remaining.

Andover wraps up the 1995 home campaign by hosting non-league rival North Andover tomorrow night at Lovely Field (7:00), and then facing Central Catholic on Thanksgiving morning at Veterans Memorial Stadium in Lawrence (10 a.m. kickoff).

Connors sharp

The Billerica game marked the triumphant return of Justin Connors to Lovely Field.

The Andover resident, who attends Billerica High as part of the School Choice Program, Connors is a senior 6-foot-6, 220-pound starting quarterback for the Indians.

He only threw the ball eight times against the Golden Warriors, but burned them with some early strikes and finished with four completions covering 128 yards. Connors' performance did not overshadow another excellent effort by AHS junior signal-caller Brian Tisbert, who scored both Golden Warriors' touchdowns, booted one PAT, rushed for 61 yards on 10 carries and completed 13-of-21 passes for 139 yards.

On Billerica's opening drive, Connors hooked up with junior wide receiver Randy Depari on a 42-yard pass that set up a five-yard TD run by Adam DeSanctis two plays later. DeSanctis (92 points, 765 yards rushing) scored all three Indians' TDs, rushing for 61 yards and catching two passes for 77 yards. Bob Rumley booted the first of his three conversions for a 7-0 Billerica lead.

On the visitors' next possession, following a short 17-yard punt, Connors and DeSanctis hooked up on a 55-yard pass that the receiver caught in stride behind the AHS secondary at the 10 yard line. It was Connors' seventh TD pass of the season.

Rumley added the kick to make it 14-0 after only 5:39 had elapsed. On its second possession, Andover drove from its own 28 yard line to the Billerica 16, surrendering on downs when a fourth-and-14 pass from Tisbert to tight end Matt Muench gained 12 yards and came up two shy of the first down.

Tisbert also completed passes to Jack Glazebrook (nine yards), Ryan Games (13 yards) and Mike Shaughnessy in the 11-play drive, and escaped on a nine-yard run.

A 15-yard roughing-the-passer penalty against Billerica helped things along, but prior to the pass completion to Muench there was a near-interception by Indians' cornerback Billy Burrows, a sack of Tisbert by BMHS defensive tackle Ben Corduck, and a dropped pass at the Indians' 15.

A holding penalty against Andover, and sacks of Tisbert by Derick Sarno and Corduck, offset a pair of 15-yard pass completions from Tisbert to Games as the half ended with Billerica still ahead 14-0.

Warriors' rally

Jeoung An opened the second half by taking the kickoff at his own 10 yard line, bobbling it, and then escaping on a brilliant 43-yard return to the Billerica 47. The Golden Warriors mounted an 11-play, 47-yard drive for their first touchdown. The scoring trek was highlighted by a 12-yard run, nine-yard run and 12-yard pass reception by junior standout Games, another 12-yard rumble by Captain Dana McCann, and a nine-yard keeper by Tisbert.

Tisbert, who also converted a fourth-and-inches at the BMHS 26, eventually scored on a one-yard plunge. He then booted his 11th PAT of the season to make it 14-7 with 4:57 left in the third quarter.

Trailing 21-7, Andover took the next kickoff and drove from its own 26 to the Indians' 37 with the key plays a pair of passes to Games (12 yards) and Muench (17 yards).

Andover needed just two minutes on the clock to march 42 yards in five plays for its second score. Games raced 17 yards, Tisbert added four on a keeper, Tisbert hit Muench with an eight-yard pass, Games chewed up six more, and Tisbert covered the final seven for his fifth touchdown and team-high 44th point of the season.

There is still plenty of time to order Holiday photo greeting cards. Bring in your favorite photo or negative, either vertical or horizontal, and choose one of 24 greetings. The reasonable price includes festive envelopes.

Andover Photo offers the widest selection of film and equipment in the Merrimack Valley for both the amateur and professional photographer. They carry a good selection of single-use and point-and-shoot cameras. Darkroom equipment and supplies are available, from paper and chemistry to enlargers.

Their Fuji color print processor allows them to offer customers one hour turnaround color print rolls. They also have a custom black and white lab in-house, where work is done by hand. Recently arrived at Andover Photo, Inc. is a "Pictrostat" machine, which makes direct copies from prints (black and white or color, new or old), 3-D objects and slides, without the negative. These copies can be sized up or down from the original. With difficult prints, however, the custom lab technician's skills may be needed.

The staff at Andover Photo is always eager to answer any of your photographic questions, from the very basic to the most technical. With many years of photo experience, they are confident that one of them will be able to solve your photographic dilemma. Andover Photo is located at 27 Barnard Street, Andover. They are open Monday through Saturday. Telephone: (508) 475-1452. 11/16/95 Rosemary C. Bernal

Display of Italian gold jewelry.

Clifford Jewelers

With the holiday season here, Clifford Jewelers is available to assist you with gifts ideas for those important people on your list. Whether you prefer the classic or contemporary types of jewelry, a custom made piece or renovation of a family heirloom, Clifford Jewelers owner John Clifford and manager Jean Foley are available to assist you in choosing that important gift. Special holiday sales are available during December.

John Clifford creates outstanding and unique custom work. You may view one-of-a-kind pieces he has created, or make an appointment to design your own. Many rings, bracelets, pendants and earings are exclusively created for the store by him and are available for your individual taste. He is also skilled at repairing heirloom jewelry. Customers may bring in used gold (broken chains, ring settings, etc.) and John will design, at considerable savings, a jewelry piece that will be wearable. This preserves the sentimental value, since the same gold is used.

Gold and stone jewelry, sterling silver, pearls, a line of scarab jewelry, children's pieces and pewter baby gifts are carried. Watches are also available, including a complete line of Swiss Army and Nautical watches. A large selection of mother and child 14K gold and sterling silver pendants are very popular choices.

Both locations include repair and custom services. Most repairs are performed in Salem while the customer waits; jewelry repairs are not sent out to another location. They specialize in appraisals, which are also done on the premises while you wait (items do not have to be left in the store).

Clifford Jewelers' North Andover store is located at Messina's Plaza, 109 Main Street. Telephone: (508) 682-4653. The Salem, N.H. location is 54 N. Broadway, Route 28, across from Dodge Grain. Telephone: (603) 894-5755. During the holidays the stores are open daily, with extended hours. John Clifford is at the North Andover store on Friday and Saturday afternoons and available in Salem at all other times.

Historical societies sponsor a Saturday architectural bus tour of the Andovers

A 20th-century architectural bus tour of the Andovers, co-sponsored by the Andover and North Andover historical societies, is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 18, at 10 a.m.

The tour will take three hours and the fee is $15.

Director Carol Majahad plans to start this driving tour at the North Andover Historical Society, 153 Academy Road. The tour circles Great Pond Road to view the former estates of Oakland, Hardtcourt, Clairwood, and Bullrushes. Next, she will lead us through the Tavern Acres Historic District.

Traveling to Andover, Barbara Thibault, director of the Andover Historical Society, will highlight buildings and sites built during each decade of this century. First, the Shawsheen Village Historic District will be viewed, before moving on to Johnson Acres and Andover Village.

See the work of noted architects and landscape designers as well as a variety of building types and American architectural styles that show how these two towns grew during this century. This tour is part of a series of tours to tell the story of settlement in historic Andover. The 17th, 18th and 19th centuries have been explored, and next spring a sampler tour of buildings and sites from each century is planned to commemorate the town's 350th anniversary.

Register by calling or coming to the historical societies. The Andover Historical Society, Andover's historical museum and research center, is at 97 Main St. Call 475-2236. The North Andover Historical Society can be reached by calling 686-4035.

HUNNEMAN WELCOMES DORIS MASON

Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker is pleased to welcome Doris Mason to the sales staff of the Andover office. Doris and her husband have made their home in Andover for more than 20 years, and have raised and educated their children in this community. With her older daughter settled in San Francisco after graduating from the University of Vermont, and her younger daughter majoring in performing arts at Emerson College, Doris is now able to pursue her desire to become a real estate professional.

Eighteen years of teaching elementary school in North Andover have helped Doris develop skills that are critical in successful real estate sales: a love of people, and the ability to listen well and communicate effectively. Doris is a person who gains immense enjoyment from her own home. She will now have the opportunity to assist others in finding the right home for them.

Call Doris Mason - another good reason why a move with Hunneman is the smart move.

JUST A SHORT WALK from the Phillips Academy campus is this beautifully maintained country estate. Surrounded by nearly 7 acres it offers lots of living space as well as a 40' x 60' detached barn.

TURKEY TROT FIVE ROAD RACE

Up to 8,000 runners expected for eighth annual Feaster Five race

By Don Staruk

Up to 8,000 runners and walkers are expected to take part in Andover's eighth annual Feaster Five Road Race Thanksgiving morning, now one of New England's premier road races.

"All plans are moving along well and we are expecting a record crowd once again," Dave McGillivray, race director, said recently.

More than 4,000 runners had registered by last weekend, which is ahead of last year's entries at this time.

The race – actually an 8k (5-mile) race, a 5k (3.1-mile) race and the Kids 1k – drew a total of 6,696 participants last year.

The Kids 1k starts at 8 a.m. at Brickstone Square at York and Haverhill streets. The 5k and 8k races start together at 8:30 on North Main Street at Balmoral Street.

Marshalls is again the primary sponsor and a portion of the proceeds will benefit Lazarus House in Lawrence.

Significant changes this year include:

- National television coverage on ESPN's Running and Racing show. The race will be taped and aired in early December;
- Race sweatshirts are limited to the first 6,500 participants to register, not to all runners as in previous years;
- Cotton gloves for every participant;
- Availability of pledge sheets for donations to Lazarus House;
- The application, past course records and description of the course on the internet on the Cool Run page, at http://ww1.usa1.com/coolrun;
- No changes in the race course, a first in the history of the race;
- A stronger field of participants.

"We expect a stronger field because of the TV coverage," said Bill Pennington, co-race director. "We expect all top runners in the Boston area to be here."

Lazarus House

More than $20,000 was raised for Lazarus House of Lawrence last year, and race organizers are looking to increase that amount this year by making pledge sheets available to participants and anyone else who wants to get involved.

"I'm trying to get the cause to be as significant as the event," Mr. McGillivray said.

Motorists beware

The Feaster Five Road Race is going to cause traffic problems around the downtown area between 8:10-9:30 Thanksgiving morning, so motorists are warned to plan accordingly and, if possible, leave cars parked for that time.

Effectively, the roads are closed, according to Dave McGillivray, race director.

Police will be directing traffic to alternate routes. For those who must venture out at that time, see the course maps on page 4A to plan your route around the affected areas.

Walkers are encouraged to take part.

"If you can't participate, at least you can walk away with the good feeling that you helped out," Mr. Pennington said.

Lazarus House, opened 12 years ago as a temporary shelter for the homeless, but now operates thrift stores, a food pantry, a soup truck, a free dental service, a congregate-living house for persons with HIV or AIDS, a child learning center for homeless children, and an advocacy program to help the poor and homeless find housing, employment and other services, all for the poor and needy in the Merrimack Valley.

"At this time of 'giving thanks' for the good things we all are fortunate to have, the Feaster Five is encouraging all participants to raise pledges to support the work of the Lazarus House and enable them to continue to reach out in service to those in the greatest need," the organizers wrote in the brochure.

Those interested in a pledge sheet can mark a box on the application and they will be sent one, or call Lazarus House at 689-8575 for more information. Applications are available at the Andover Townsman, Athlete's Corner and at several other locations in downtown Andover.

Pledges can be turned in at Marshalls during race-week registration.

Toys and old sneakers

Along with pledges, organizers are encouraging participants to bring their old running shoes to donate to Lazarus House. They can be dropped in a large box in front of Marshalls' offices at Brickstone Square, near the large Christmas Tree, at the start of the race.

There will also be a box for new toys to be donated to the Toys for Tots.

Volunteers

The race is hosted by the Merrimack Valley Striders running club and most of its members work the race. But many more volunteers are required and those helpers, especially the younger ones, make the Feaster Five possible, according to Mr. Pennington.

"The youth are basically putting this thing on with some help from adults," he said.

They include Ballardvale United Church and South Church youth groups, 75 students from the community service program at Andover High School and students from Central Catholic and St. Mary's high schools.

Registration & number pickup

The entry fee is $15 for the 5-mile and 3.1-mile races, and $5 for the Kids 1k. Organizers ask that participants pick up their packets and sweatshirts before hand to avoid a parking nightmare and crush of people on race morning. Registration and pickup times are: Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 20 and 21, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.; and Wednesday, noon to 8 p.m.

The first 6,500 entrants will receive sweatshirts. Every entrant will receive a race packet, a pair of white cotton gloves and the traditional Market Basket apple pie at the finish.

"We have 7,500 pies ordered right now," Mr. Pennington said. "All finishers get one. We'll order more as the numbers near 7,500."

The start of last year's Feaster Five Road Race.

Expo and clinic

A health expo will be held at Marshalls, in Brickstone Square, Wednesday, Nov. 22, from 3-8 p.m. Fitness products will be exhibited. Fat, cholesterol and blood testing will be available as well as massage therapy.

At 6 p.m., Marty Liquori, of ESPN and a former top miler, will host a runners clinic featuring former Boston Marathon winners Bill Rodgers, Joan Benoit Samuelson, Greg Meyer and Jack Fultz. A video will be shown and the guests will answer questions.

A first! No course changes from last year

For the first time perhaps in the history of the race, there are no changes to either the 5k (3.1 mile) or 8k (5 mile) courses this year.

The Kids 1k will again begin at 8 a.m. at Brickstone Square.

The 5k and 8k start together at 8:30 a.m. on North Main at Balmoral Street. The wide start area on North Main will allow those up front to start quickly, but those in the back will have it slow going for the first half mile or so due to the crowd.

Timing splits will be given at the mile markers.

Water stations will be just prior to the 2-mile marker, in front of the Townsman building on Bartlet Street, and before the 4-mile marker, (near the 2 mile mark for 5k runners), on High Street near Burnham Road.

Sights along the way

There will be some additional entertainment and assistance along the course this year. Lazarus House staff will have signs and music at all intersections and will assist with traffic. There will be two disc jockeys and three Dixieland bands along the course.

"We're looking for fiddles and bagpipes," Mr. Pennington said.

The 5k (3.1 mile) course

Heading south, the first half mile is relatively flat, crossing over the Shawsheen River, past the new Marshalls store on the left and through the lights at Stevens Street. The next half mile is the longest uphill on the course. It finally levels off at Elm Square, just past the mile mark, and from there it's clear sailing.

The 5k course takes a left on Elm Street and a quick left on High Street. Be careful here as the 5-mile runners will continue straight on Main Street.

After a short downhill the course is mostly flat along High Street, past the 2-mile marker and out to Haverhill Street, where runners turn left for a fast downhill stretch, go under the railroad bridge then right onto York Street for a short, straight uphill finish.

The 5k runners must stay to the left of the cones on High, Haverhill and York streets. Many of the 5k runners, those who will run eight-minute miles or slower, may see the 5-mile leaders pass them on the right along High Street and all the way to the finish.

The 8k (5 mile) course

The 8k is the same as the 5k course for the first mile to the top of the hill at Elm Square. There, the 5k runners will take a left on Elm Street while the 5-mile course continues straight on Main Street through town.

Just as the gradual uphill begins heading out of town, the course goes left on Morton Street for one block before making a fast left downhill turn onto Bartlet Street. A few blocks later go right onto Chestnut Street past the 2-mile marker and continue straight for a short distance before turning left onto Pasho Street.

Maple goes downhill to Walnut Street. At the end, go left again downhill to High Street, and right on High Street.

From there, follow the 5k course except 5-mile runners will stay to the right of the cones all the way in. High Street is mostly flat out to a left on Haverhill Street, which begins a fast downhill that continues almost to the finish.

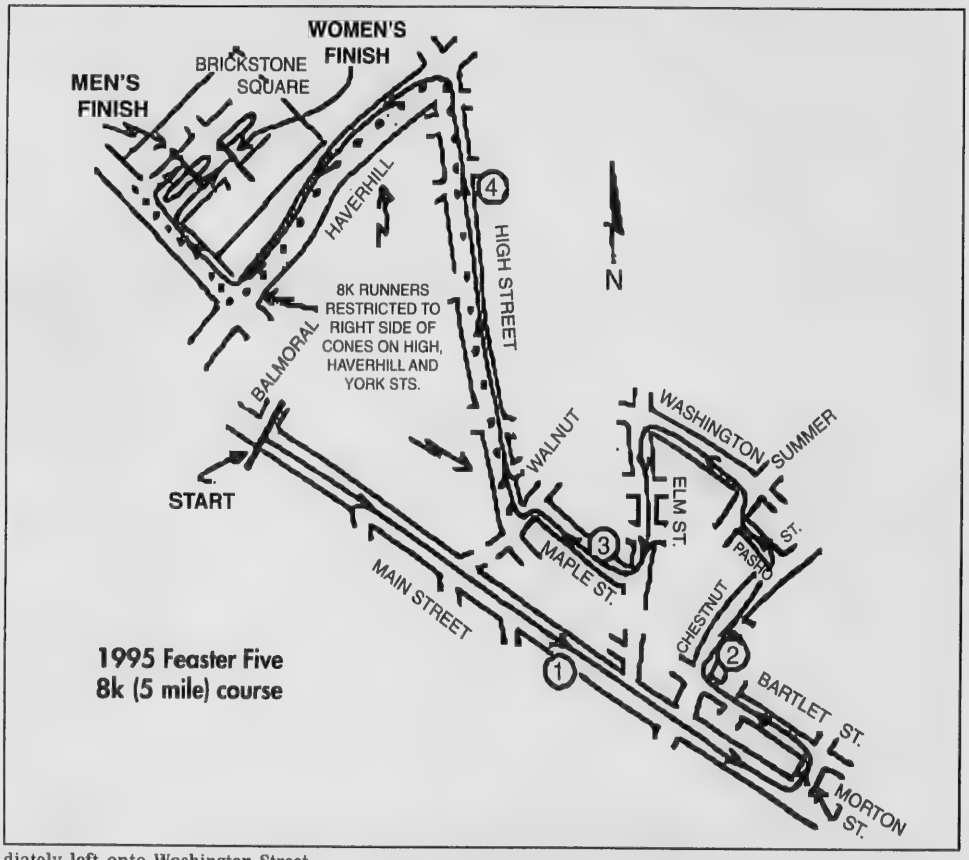
After the railroad bridge turn right up the hill on York Street to the finish lines in the Marshalls parking lot. Women stay to the right coming up the hill and turn right into the first chute. Men stay straight past the first chute and take the second right to that chute.

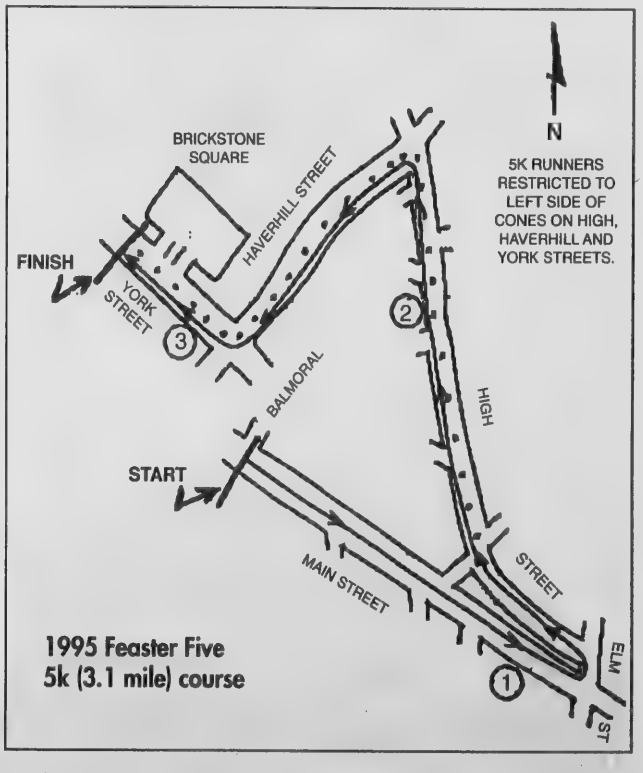
Training runs

The last organized training run will be held this Saturday morning at 8:15 a.m. leaving from the Athlete's Corner store on Main Street. The run will cover the entire 5-mile course.

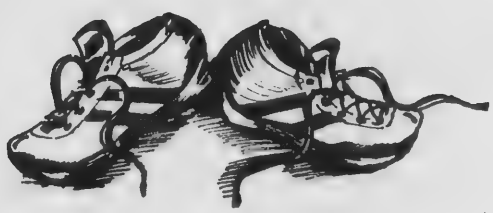
Parking

Parking will be available at Shawsheen Plaza on North Main Street (a half mile from the start on the course), at Doctors Park on Haverhill Street, (on the course about a half mile from the finish), and at Brickstone Square.





You Have No Idea How Much Support Is In Your Sneakers.



Please join Marshalls in supporting and participating in the 8th Annual Feaster Five Road Race, Thursday, November 23.

Cedarland's AMAZEment Action Playcenter is expanding

Facility will now offer more healthy, fun activities for juniors 6 and under Cedarland Family Fun Center's year-round indoor play MAZE is expanding.

AMAZEment will now offer more healthy, fun activities for juniors 6 and under. Some of the new and exciting features include a sandbox room, a building-block room, a 55-gallon fish tank, and an enclosed area with a toddler play unit. The 5,000-foot addition also includes two new birthday party rooms.

The new play area set to open in mid-December will compliment the giant indoor play MAZE. The MAZE, a three-story play unit, consists of a series of organized play events that provide upper and lower body exercise – pushing, pulling, crawling, climbing, swinging, and sliding. All are at a child's own pace and in the order they choose.

In conjunction with Cedarland Family Fun Center, AMAZEment Action Playcenter has become the area's birthday party specialist. Juniors can select from a MAZE party, golf party, indoor swim party or one of Cedarland's special combination parties.

For more information on AMAZEment Action Playcenter or booking a birthday party, call (508) 521-7700. AMAZEment Action Playcenter is located at Cedarland Family Fun Center, 931 Boston Road, Haverhill.

Some of the new features include a sandbox room, building-block room, 55-gallon fish tank, and an enclosed area with a toddler play unit.

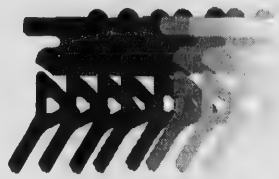
Proud To Be Your Host Of One Of The Largest Races In New England



Merrimack Valley Striders

The Merrimack Valley Striders (MVS) is a club organized to encourage and enhance running at all levels. Founded in 1978, MVS is one of the oldest running clubs in New England; and it offers an unparalleled range of activities to the running community - from the best adult and youth coaching in the area to organized runs throughout the week and numerous social activities.

Adult Coaching Program - Track sessions are held for 10 consecutive weeks in the spring and fall at the North Andover Middle School track (off Mass. Ave). Workouts are designed and managed by the coaches to meet the competitive levels of all runners, from sub-5 miles to beyond.

Individualized Coaching Program - Formal training programs for individual runners are available from the coaches during the winter.

Youth Track & Field Program - Introduces athletes between the ages 10 and 15 to the technical and competitive aspects of track and field. Weekly practices build toward competition at several meets including the Needham Invitational which serves as the New England Championships.

New Balance Sponsorship - MVS is one to three running clubs throughout the U.S. selected for sponsorship by New Balance based on the club's high visibility at all levels throughout the running community. New Balance provides MVS with uniforms and other support.

Join the Striders and move your running to a new level. Get involved in...

Races

Feaster Five - MVS created and hosts the largest 5 miles race in New England, the Thanksgiving Feaster Five. Held Andover and sponsored by Marshalls, the race attracts over 8000 participants.

Stars and Stripes 10K - MVS created and hosts this popular 4th of July race, based in N. Andover's historic Old Center and sponsored by UniFirst Corp.

Meetings - Club meetings are held on the last Wednesday of every month at the Sons of Italy Hall on Marston Street in Lawrence, right off 495. Take exit 45 from north or south. Meetings feature guest speakers on all "running" topics, from physical therapy to extreme skiing.

Discounts - Striders receive a 15% discount on all items at The Athlete's Corner in Andover.

Organized Runs - Every Saturday at 8:00 from The Athlete's Corner, weekdays, and on most Sundays.

Club Phone - For more information about a club activity, call the MVS Voicemail at (508) 687-8887.

Adult Coaching Staff: Fernando Braz / Paul McGovern

FERNANDO BRAZ has been the MVS Adult Head Coach since 1992. His coaching philosophy is: develop the average runner into a good runner, the good runner into a great one, and the great runner into a champion. Coach Braz uses this philosophy to train, guide, and inspire all running levels in the club. The results have included dramatic racing improvements and personal bests by many Striders, high participation at track workouts, and a three-fold increase in club membership.

Coach Braz has been a competitive runner for over 18 years. At Peabody HS he was named All-American in cross-country and spring track, and he ranked 2nd in the country at 10,000 meters with 30:42. He was the first runner to win back-to-back All State titles in cross-country and track. At Boston College, he was the New England and Big East 10K Champion, and the first distance runner form BC to qualify for the NCAA championship in both cross-country and track 10K. He was the school's cross-country MVP three times, and he was named to the all-New England team 12 times. As post-collegiate runner, he qualified for the Olympic Marathon Trial in 1988 and 1992, and he holds the following personal bests: 5K - 13:59; 10K - 29.52; 10 miles - 48:36; 1/2 marathon - 1:06:10; marathon - 2:18:26.

PAUL McGOVERN joined the MVS Adult Coaching Staff in April 1995, bringing with him a rare blend of training expertise, racing experience and fitness knowledge (developmental and therapeutic).

Professionally, Coach McGovern is an assistant physical therapist. He earned his bachelor's degree in Human Services from Fitchburg State, and he's a Certified Massage Therapist. In addition to his work in physical therapy, he has worked as a sports massage therapist and personal fitness instructor.

As a runner, he is best known in New England for winning the Yankee Homecoming 10 mile four times. On the national level, he ran in the 1992 Olympic Trials Marathon, finishing 16th. While at Fitchburg State, he was the New England Div. III 10K champion in 1980 and 1982, the 1981 Fitchburg State Athlete of the Year, and he captained their cross-country, indoor track, outdoor track and baseball teams in 1982. In 1983 he was invited to try out for the Montreal Expos baseball team.

Youth Coaching Staff: Phil Capodilupo

PHIL CAPODILUPO has been the MVS Youth Track & Field Head Coach since1989. He has coached track & field, wrestling, soccer, baseball, and field hockey at the high school level since1975.

Coach Capodilupo earned his BS Degree from Springfield College and his Master's Degree in Education from Cambridge College. He has taught and coached in Mass. and NJ. He currently teaches at Ayer HS and coaches cross-country at Austin Prep, and wrestling at Reading HS.

An outstanding four-sport athlete at North Andover HS and a top wrestler at Springfield (climaxed by competing in the 1976 US Olympic Trials), Coach Capodilupo applies deep coaching experience to produce startling results with young athletes. In the MVS Youth Program, he has developed 7 New England Champions. As a HS coach, he has produced countless League and State champions in cross-country, track and field, and wrestling.

Some run for a cause, others to race – all for fun

By Alix Driscoll

Many do it to raise funds for Lazarus House. Some do it to share an activity with friends or family. Others are in it for the exercise. And, yes, there are a few who actually come to race. But whatever reason the 7,000 to 8,000 runners and walkers who will take part in this year's race come out on Thanksgiving morning, they will be taking part in what has become a tradition in Andover

"It's been a little over a year now. It's the hardest thing I've ever done," says Laura James about giving up her 25-year smoking habit. Last year, several weeks before she ran her first Feaster Five, she gave up cigarettes. She credits taking up running, wearing a nicotine patch and the strong support of her husband, Steve, and daughters, Tink, 5, and Taylor, 6½, with helping her stay smoke free.

"I felt very accomplished. I experienced energy and exhilaration" after doing the Feaster last year.

Since then, Ms. James, who grew up in town, has been running about a race every month. Recently she did the Tufts 10k, an all-women competition with more than 6,000 runners.

Running with Ms. James this year are her husband; brother, Chris Richards; her brother-in-law, Ayres Stockly; and her brother and sister-in-law, Tim and Anne Richards. She plans to better her 11-minute-mile pace of last year by at least a minute per mile this year.

Thanksgiving dinner follows at the home of her parents, Wendy and Jack Richards, at 21 Hidden Field.

Greg Pennington, 5, and his sister, Melissa, 4, are training with their dad, Bill Pennington, for the Kids 1k, which is a bit over a half-mile race.

"It's a race for the whole family," says Mr. Pennington, 45 Clark Road, co-director of the Feaster and who encourages parents to run with their children. The kids' designation means youngsters 12 and under. He expects more than 500 youngsters will enter the Kids 1k competition this year. Some youngsters are pulled in carts; others pushed in strollers.

"They all win," he says. "Each child who finishes the race earns an apple pie; each wears No. 1."

Dogged determination characterizes the running style of John Schellhorn and his good friend Dawber. Dawber, a 20-month-old English springer spaniel, is training for the 5 miler by galloping five miles every 10 days. His master runs 15-20 miles a week, usually a 5-mile stint at the end of the school day. Mr. Schellhorn, 48, of Powers Road, teaches automotive mechanics at Shawsheen Regional High School.

He took up running about 18 years ago.

"You can do it as a solo; it doesn't require expensive equipment and it's really re-energizing," he says.

Mr. Schellhorn completed his first half-marathon, the Bay State in Lowell, last month. Part of his preparation for the Feaster was running a 5k race at Milton Country Club and the American Cancer Society 5-mile race at Phillips Academy on the same day earlier this month.

"It's a real social event. You see everyone you know at the Feaster," he says.

Recently back from the New York City Marathon, which he ran with a handicapped runner, Mike Frishman is doing his fifth Feaster Five. In the New York race, Mr. Frishman accompanied Juanita Goldman, 73, of Summit, N.J., who has severe arthritis in her feet. He has run with her for four years. In all, he's competed 22 times in that race.

Mr. Frishman suggests that the organizers of the Feaster Five might like to consider having such a program of pairing handicapped runners with other athletes who would carry medications and assist when necessary.

"I see everybody I know," he says, speaking about the Feaster. "I am out to have a good time."

This year Mr. Frishman is competing with his son, Andy, a junior at Wesleyan University, in Conn., who is his school's top squash player.

"Once you're there with all the masses of humanity, it's exciting – and the money goes to a really good cause," says Anne Goldstein, 45, who is walking the 5k route with her daughters, Amy, 26, who works for Pacific Packaging Products in Wilmington, and Susan, 23, who works for Fugazy Travel. It's the third year she's done the walk. She plans to finish in under 45 minutes.

"When we're all done – with rosy cheeks – we have time to rush home, stuff the turkey and then go out to breakfast," says Ms. Goldstein.

Also joining her this year are her niece, Jan Goldstein MacLaughlin, of Beverly, and a neighbor or two from Candlewood Drive.

Training?

"I don't really train for the Feaster," says Ms. Goldstein, who says she's a "professional volunteer."

Buzz Stapczynski, Andover's town manager, says he wants to best Townsman reporter Don Staruk in the 5 miler. [Editor's note: He may have a chance. Mr. Staruk may not run.]

* * *

From the middle of Maine, Melanie McGarry, 19, is coming home to share the Thanksgiving holiday and to run the Feaster with her father, Bill McGarry. Ms. McGarry, who ran cross country and track for Andover High School, is tackling the 5 miler. The Bates College sophomore is also running with her old friend, Megan Smith, who went to Phillips Academy and now studies at Smith College. She says she's tuning up for her third Feaster with a three- to five-mile-per-day training regimen.

Mr. McGarry, who is competing in the 5k race, says his goal is to do a 10-minute mile, like President Clinton.

Lauren Vieira, 9, is running her second Feaster Five, this time the 5k.

The West Elementary School fourth-grader trained this summer with the Andover Flyers Track and Field Club. She ran the Kids 1k last year, the race her brother, Steven, 6, a first-grader, will enter this year.

Her father, James, who has been running for quite a while, and mother, Nancy, who just took up the sport recently and has a goal of a 9-minute mile, are tackling the 5 miler.

The reputation of Ballardvale for determination and togetherness is well represented at Andover's own race by the pack of nine Wrigleys. Grandmother Vicky Wrigley, 76, of Lowell Junction Road; her son, Russ, 48, now of Highland Road, and his wife, Joan, 46; their sons, Steven, 24, a master's candidate at UMass/Lowell, and Dan, 22, a University of New Hampshire student, are all planning to run again.

And coming from North Conway, N.H., to run in the Feaster is Ms. Wrigley's daughter, Joan Hickey, her husband, Bob, 45, and their sons, Rob, 11 and Kyle, 10. Ms. Wrigley says Rob will walk the Kids 1k with his brother and then go on to run the 3 miler.

Her husband, Henry, says he does not run but will be cooking the turkey for the runners. He admits he's "a good enough cook."

Ms. Wrigley aced her age group for women last year, winning a Christmas tree, which she gave to her son. She says she hopes to walk away with another first this year.

Vickey Wrigley and her grandson, Steven on Summer Street during a recent Feaster Five. After Steven runs the 5 miler, he walks the last mile again with his grandmother.

"I'll help get the turkey ready and we'll scoot off. I do it because it's fun to run with my kid," says Larry Ginsberg, of Cherrywood Circle. Mr. Ginsberg is competing in his sixth Feaster race, his second year with his son, Alan, 13, an eighth-grader at West Middle School. Alan plays soccer for the Andover Lasers and competed for the seventh-grade traveling basketball team last year.

Larry and Alan Ginsberg

"We ran together. He had a lot of bursts at the end," says Mr. Ginsberg, an accountant, about last year's race. "It's a nice way to spend time together." He's looking forward to the next year or so when his other children, Robbie, 10, and Rikki, 8, will accompany him.

Looking back, Mr. Ginsberg remembers with much delight a previous Feaster when the runners numbered in the hundreds and Andover was covered with 5 inches of new snow.

Dr. John Hagigeorges has been been training for his first Feaster Five with friends Michael and Paula Quinlan. The dentist and oral surgeon, who moved to Stouffer Circle in March with his family, rowed and played football for Tufts University. Now he's running the five miler "just for the experience," he says. His wife, Chris, is walking.

Doug Shahian, 15, of 5 Blueberry Circle, is running his third Feaster. This year he's competing with Alan Hibino and hopes to break 40 minutes for the 5-miler. Doug says he learned to run when he participated in the 100-Mile Club at Doherty Middle School. In his eighth-grade year he ran more than 200 miles and earned a golden sneaker.

The AHS sophomore competed on the freshman track team last year and played ice hockey.

Joanne Guillet, who works at First Eastern Mortgage Company, at Brickstone Square, is running with several colleagues from the office. She's been rounding them up via E-mail.

The Enmore Street resident says she has been getting ready by walking a 3- to 4-mile circuit around town pushing her son, Nicholas, 4, in a bright red baby jogger, and doing 12-mile bike rides.

I've been working out for years," she says.

She explains she didn't eat any Halloween candy because she's in training.

Verrington looking beyond Feaster to '96 Olympics

By Don Staruk

Dan Verrington, supervisor of Spring Grove Cemetery in Andover, is one of the seeded runners for this year's Feaster Five 5-mile race, but he's thinking ahead to his next race. In December Mr. Verrington will run the Huntsville, Ala., marathon with the hope of breaking 2 hours and 20 minutes, good enough to qualify him for the 1996 Olympic trials.

Mr. Verrington finished ninth in last year's Feaster Five 5-miler in 25:13, nearly a minute off the 24:19 winning time.

"I've run 24:17 this year," Mr. Verrington said last week.

But that was before he broke a big toe last month. On Oct. 12, he was running and tripped on a tree branch and broke the toe. He saw the limb on the ground, but didn't lift his foot high enough to clear it.

The injury stopped him from running for about 10 days, but he made a quick comeback, winning the 5-mile Beth Brodie Butterfly Run in Groveland on Oct. 22 in a time of 25:01.

He has since continued to increase his running, albeit a bit gingerly, and is hoping to better his Feaster time this year.

"I'd like to do about 24:30 – 24:35," he said.

No Eurail pass needed

Mr. Verrington traveled to Europe three times this year to complete. His first trip was to the Czech Republic for the Pardubice Marathon where he finished ninth in a time of 2:23:18, his personal best for the marathon. He hopes to best that by more than 3 minutes in Huntsville Dec. 10.

He also traveled to Italy in August to run a 15k mountain run, and to Edinburgh, Scotland, Sept. 9, where he competed in the "world cup of mountain running."

"That was fun. It was up and down this year," Mr. Verrington said.

The race requires a certain amount of altitude change, and is usually all up hill or all down. Scotland, not being very mountainous, required a lot of both.

"This was extreme cross-country is what it turned out to be. You were just going straight up and straight down."

Mr. Verrington then traveled to the Clarence DeMar Marathon in Keene, N.H., on Sept. 29 and won the race in 2:30.

Dan Verrington

Snow, rain and cold tell the tale of Feasters past

The more than 7,000 runners expected to take part in this year's 8th annual Feaster Five Road Race may or may not leave with a personal best time, but they will leave with more than 7,500 apple pies, 6,500 race sweatshirts and 7,500 pairs of gloves. But this race was not always so grand.

1988

Roughly 400 runners competed in the first Feaster Five, held on Thanksgiving Day in 1988. The race started and finished at The Park on Bartlet Street and was an out-and-back course, looping through the Blueberry Hill subdivision off Holt Road.

Ken Pliska was the first winner of the race with Amy Legacki, of Boxford, taking the top spot for women.

The second Feaster Five was the most infamous, as a New England blizzard had dumped six inches of snow on the course by race time.

Ken Mahony, town manager at the time, almost stopped the race in fear for the runners' safety, but convinced that the runners would go out and run anyway, he let the race go on.

Four hundred participants ran through near-white-out conditions. Sam Hilario, of Lawrence, and Nancy Corsaro, of Methuen, skied and skated across the finish line for the top honors.

1990

In 1990, nearly 2,000 runners competed, a significant increase in entrants over the first two Feaster Five races. Race officials attributed the tremendous increase to decent weather and the decision to give free apple pies to the last 1,000 runners instead of the top finishers.

1991

The fourth annual Feaster Five, in 1991, featured the same course as in 1992, but had dry weather and temperatures in the 40s.

Nearly 3,000 runners competed, with world-class marathoner Julie Peterson taking first place in the women's division. Guy Sterns won the men's competition, crossing the finish line just four seconds ahead of Dan Dillon, for the closest finish ever among overall winners at the Feaster Five.

Past winners of the Feaster Five 5-mile Road Race

	Male		Female		Entries
1988	Ken Pliska	N/A	Amy Legacki	N/A	420
1989	Sam Hilario	N/A	Nancy Corsaro	N/A	650
1990	Dennis Simonaitis	25:06	Peg Donovan	28:24	1,800
1991	Guy Stearns	24:31	Julie Peterson	27:53	2,800
1992	Chris Teague	23:52	Rita Cecil	28:54	3,650
1993	Scott Bagley	24:05	Gina Sperry	28:11	5,105
1994	George Yiannelis	24:18	Lisa Senatore	28:04	6,696

1992

The weather was much more cooperative in 1992, at least for the runners, most of whom appreciated the light rain and 40-degree temperatures.

"Not very good for walkers and spectators," said Bill Pennington, co-director of the race. "But it was ideal for runners."

Three course records were set as more than 3,000 runners competed, including Johnny Kelley, the well-loved 87-year-old marathon great whose original oil paintings were given as prizes to the top men's- and women's-open division finishers.

The course began at the intersection of Main and Chestnut streets that year, wound around Phillips Academy and down Salem Street to Route 125, then back to the finish line in front of the town offices.

Temperatures were well below freezing in '93, causing the water at the water stops to turn to slush in the cups and ice to form on the roads where the water spilled.

More than 5,000 partipants registered for the race and, despite the cold weather, more than 4,000 completed it.

The race route was similar to the current route, only it ran in reverse direction. And instead of starting on North Main Street, as the race will this year, the start was at Brickstone Square.

Following the race, a check for $25,000 was presented to Lazarus House, exceeding the goal set by race directors. This was the most money raised in a Feaster Five event to date.

Despite temps again hovering around 20 degrees at the start last year, a record 6,696 participants came out for the race, making it New England's fifth largest. The course was the same as this year, the first time it hasn't changed.

George Yiannelis and Lisa Senatore took first places in the 5 miler with Senatore edging out Olympic gold medalist Joan Benoit Samuelson by just 21 seconds for her win.

In the masters race, Andy Palmer outkicked four-time Boston Marathon winner Bill Rodgers for a one second victory. Susan Aronovitz took the women's race. Tommy Lynch and Mary Donohue took the 5k in 15:58 and 19:05 respectively.

Almost $20,000 was raised for Lazarus House.

Center Association sponsors Santa, lights and more

The goal of the Andover Center Association is to keep people shopping here and to encourage people who live outside of Andover to "discover what a wonderful little downtown we have," according to Sean Quinn, Andover Center Association chairman.

The Andover Center Association is comprised of more than 60 downtown businesses that include retailers, insurance companies and banks. Each business pays annual dues to belong to the Center Association, which promotes and enhances business in downtown Andover.

The Center Association sponsors many events during the year, all of which are put together with the energy of volunteers. These events include the Spring Coloring Contest, the Antique Auto Show and Bazaar Days.

The association recently sponsored the Halloween Trick or Treat and the first-ever Discover Downtown Andover event. Upcoming events include Holiday Open House and Breakfast with Santa.

Holiday Open House

The annual Holiday Open House – or Family Night, as it is known to some – will be held on Friday, Dec. 1, from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Main Street will be shut down to motorists. Families and individuals are welcome to enjoy refreshments while getting an early start on holiday shopping at Center Association-member stores.

Entertainment will include a hay ride and carolers.

"This is the biggest event we put on besides Bazaar Days," Mr. Quinn said.

Santa to visit

The Center Association is pleased to welcome a very special guest into town on Saturday, Dec. 16. Santa Claus will be upstairs at Old Town Hall on Main Street for his annual breakfast.

All are welcome to have breakfast with Santa and children can discuss their Christmas wishes with him. Breakfast costs $3. Breakfast and a photo with Santa costs $6.

"Many people think that the Town of Andover puts on these events, but actually it's the merchants themselves," said Mr. Quinn. "The Center Association members are the ones who decorate downtown, make sure the lights are in the trees, and decide where the tables are to be set up for Bazaar Days."

The association functions on donations from member businesses and also receives contributions from the Town of Andover. Membership is at its highest level in the history of the association.

McGillivray & Rossi: 'Feaster will go on'

By Don Staruk

Marshalls is again the primary sponsor of the Feaster Five, donating approximately $60,000 of value in cash, merchandise and other services to the race. And despite the company's pending sale, Jerry Rossi, chief operating officer for the company, said this week that support will continue.

"Absolutely. Marshalls will continue to support that road race as we have for the last four years;" Mr. Rossi said Monday.

News of Marshalls' sale to TJX Companies of Framingham, parent company of T.J. Maxx, has led to speculation that Marshalls may move out of town and pull its support of the Feaster Five after this year. Mr. Rossi said the deal will become official next month, but that it's "way too early" to predict whether Marshalls will move.

"Andover is the home of Marshalls today and we'll do the best we can to keep this going here," Mr. Rossi said.

But even if the company does move, Mr. Rossi said that would not affect its support for the race. Marshalls and T.J. Maxx have 1,000 stores between them, and their support of various community activities is not tied to a particular location, he said. Marshalls also supports a road race coming up in Houston, Texas, which Mr. Rossi said he plans to run in, just as he will take part in the Feaster Five.

Dave McGillivray, race director, said two weeks ago that he also thinks Marshalls plans on staying around and staying involved with the Feaster. But he said that he is also optimistic another company would step in as the primary sponsor should Marshalls bow out.

The race will continue, Mr. McGillivray said.

As a closing note, Mr. Rossi would not predict his time in the Feaster, saying that he never likes to do that.

"I know that I'll finish on Thursday sometime. As long as it's before dinner."

Commonwealth Motors continues to enjoy sales increases

No one can dispute the fact that Charles Daher's Commonwealth Motors is New England's largest Chevrolet, Honda, Isuzu, Pontiac and Mazda dealer. Other dealers are amazed at the number of vehicles being sold by Commonwealth and also the fact that Commonwealth Motors is one of New England's highest rated dealers in terms of customer satisfaction. Even some competing dealers are admitting that Commonwealth's policy of telling customers to "Shop Them Last" has left the competition in the dust and made Commonwealth Motors customers for life. Everyone agrees that "Shop Us Last...You'll Love Us" is not just a slogan at Commonwealth Motors, it reflects a true desire to earn a customer's trust for life.

Commonwealth Motors sales and leasing department is open seven days a week and the service department is open six days a week, Monday through Saturday. We offer express service, shuttle service and satisfaction guaranteed with everything we do.

All these services are also available at our other location, Commonwealth on the Lynnway, located at 730 Lynnway, Lynn, MA, (617) 599-6100. The Lawrence location is at Exit 45, off Route 495.

Call (508) 687-3000 for information.
